Enforcement Unit Gets Liquor Clean-Up Plea

Simpson, H. G. State Museum

LEONARD SAYS STATE MEN TO MAKE INQUIRY

Ex-Mansfielder Turns Over Kyle's Request for Check on Situation Here.

SOLON EXPECTS 'ACTION'

Says Outcome of Investigation Will Guide Council in Any Local Clean-up Steps.

Councilman George Kyle's demand of the Ohio Liquor Control commission for a "clean-up" of the Mansfield liquor dispensing set-up today had been turned over to the state enforcement division.

Associated Press dispatches from Columbus said that the letter sent by Kyle last week to Wellington T. Leonard, former Mansfielder and member of the commission, had been referred to the enforcement division.

The dispatches quoted Leonard as saying that the state liquor agents would "clean up any bad situation" in Mansfield.

Unavailable for Comment.

Due to the observance of Lincoln's birthday by state departments in Columbus today, neither Leonard nor officials in the enforcement division could be reached for further comment.

Kyle said that he had not yet received a reply from Leonard but expressed the opinion that the enforcement officials would give "action."

"That's what we want—action," Kyle said. "We'll see what they'll do now and just how far they will go. What they do in the way of cleaning up this situation here will undoubtedly guide council's action toward any clean-up.

Asked 'Wrecking Crew.'

Kyle last week appealed to Leonard to send a "wrecking crew" to Mansfield to enforce the liquor regulations, particularly in regard to the liquor license quota.

Kyle contends that there are more liquor licenses in Mansfield than prescribed under the liquor board regulations and it was this item that he requested an investigation.

The request for the clean-up here was made by Kyle following council's refusal by a 5 to 3 vote last Tuesday to place a ban on the sale of 3.2 beer. Kyle voted against the issue.

At the session, Kyle argued against council taking action on the beer bill, contending that the liquor business belonged to the state and that it should clean it up.

As Close as the Two Will Ever Be, Folks, Here are 1939's World Fairs Side by Side

SAN FRANCISCO—On 400-acre Treasure Island, a man-made atoll in beauteous San Francisco bay, the $50,000,000 Golden Gate International Exposition will open to the public on Feb. 18 and continue until Dec. 2, 1939.

There is just time for a quick tour of the grounds before the fair opens.

This "Pageant of the Pacific" will unfold on the largest island ever made by man. The site is 13 feet above the high tides—more than a mile long and three-fifth of a mile wide—just off Yerba Buena island, where the federal weather bureau reports only 142 hours of fog annually for the last 45 years, so if there's any more than that this year, it'll be MOST unusual.

Eleven western states and 30 foreign nations have sponsored this gigantic World's Fair of the West, folks, and their motto is "Be the Guest of the West in '39." Inspired by the $77,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the $33,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge, and the Clipper ships' scheduled flights to the Far East, these states and nations have spared nothing to give you a "Pageant of the Pacific" that's staggering.

Ferries plying to the fair's four slips can bring in 65,000 persons hourly and there's parking space for 12,000 cars under the walls of Exposition City.

A New Architecture.

Note the architecture, folks—practically windowless — a new "Pacific style" which blends ancient mystic Oriental forms in long horizontal lines, and setback pyramids, into unified simplicity. An ancient walled city is the

NEW YORK—In 1,216½-acre Flushing Meadow Park, man-made from a one-time marsh and city dump on lovely Long Island, the $155,000,000 New York World's Fair will open for business April 30 on the 150th anniversary of George Washington's presidential inauguration. The show probably won't close until the income falls below the outgo.

Let's take a "rubberneck" trip to the nearly completed grounds.

The idea back of it all, folks, is demonstration of "a happier way of American living through a recognition of the interdependence of man, and the building of a better world tomorrow with the tools of today.

Dramatizing this idea is the fair's major exhibit in the theater of the perisphere (like trylon, a fair-coined word.) There, folks, 8,000 persons an hour can see the six-minute spectacle. You enter through the base of the 965-ton trylon which needles 700 feet into the air, and you come out of the spheroid building on the 1,000-foot long Helicline, which is the fair's panorama walk.

Sixty foreign nations (22 have their own buildings,) the League of Nations and the Pan-American Union are participating. The foreign pavilions are even there east of Rainbow avenue, folks, in the same area as the Court of States and Tomorrow town.

Flowers and Folderols.

That's Constitution Mall, the $5,000,000 mile-long avenue stretching away from the Theme Center of the Court of Peace and the Lagoon of Nations, with its nightly spectacle of fire and water, synchronized with music.

You can get around the grounds by buses, tractor trains and roller chairs—and by motor boat taxis operating on Fountain Lake. Just outside the grounds is parking space for 36,000 cars.

The fair is set up for an average daily gate og 250,000 and a capacity of 1,000,000 persons a day. It's mostly ground-floor, with no stairs to climb. Nearly all of the 44 major buildings are win-

2 Of City's Famous Sons Speak During Nation-Wide Broadcasts

Mansfield was represented on the radio yesterday with two widely divergent programs.

Two of the city's famous sons were heard over the air—Paul M. Angle in a University of Chicago round table broadcast by NBC at 12:30 p. m. on the life of Lincoln, and Louis Bromfield, novelist, on an American Forum of Public opinion broadcast from Washington at 8 p. m., over the Mutual system.

Angle, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Angle, Vennum avenue, is secretary of the Illinois Historical society at Springfield, Ill. He is an authority on Lincoln.

The round table discussion was on what Lincoln would do under present conditions, and the conclusion drawn was that estimates of a man's accomplishments must be based on his association with events of his own time.

Bromfield was one of the four members of a panel that took part in the Forum program, which was headed by Senators Gerald P. Nye and Josh Lee, which discussed the subject of America's foreign policy. Nye criticized the administration on the recently-announced sale of planes to France, while Lee upheld the program.

Members of the panel, who talked extemporaneously after prepared addresses by Nye and Lee, were Ray Tucker, Washington columnist, James E. Van Zandt, congressman and former national commander of the V. F. W. and Harry Lamberton, secretary of the League for Peace and Democracy.

Bromfield joined Lee in supporting the administration's program to sell American planes to European democracies, as well as the fortification of Guam as simply being good insurance against an enemy (the dictator nations)

MOURN HOLMES

Newsmen Saddened by Death of INS Writer.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.)— George R. Holmes, for almost 20 years Washington bureau manager and chief political writer for the International News Service, is dead.

He died of heart disease early Sunday morning at his home here. There will be services tomorrow at 11 a. m., with burial in Arlington National cemetery.

Holmes was an overseas veteran of the World war but thought little of that youthful interlude and rarely spoke of it. His life was bound up in the daily work of a Washington newspaperman. He never stepped out of that character.

He was 19 years old when he broke in on the Indianapolis Sun in 1914 and he was 44 when he died. In 1916 he joined the International News Service here and four years later he was named Washington manager.

The news dispatches of George R. Holmes frequently appeared in The Mansfield News-Journal.

DEFENSE OPENS IN HINES CASE

Tammany Leader's Attorneys Ask Dismissal of Charges.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Tammany Leader James J. Hines' defense against the accusation that he acted as paid "fixer" for the "Dutch" Schultz mob of policy racketeers was opened today with a motion that all of the thirteen counts in the indictment be dismissed.

The motion to throw the case out of court was made before Judge Charles C. Nott, jr. by Chief Defense Counsel Lloyd P. Stryker.

Hines' first trial ended in a mistrial when Judge Ferdinand mistrial when Judge Ferdinand Pecora ruled that District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had over-stepped legal bounds in cross-examining a defense witness.

MOONEY AILING

Pardoned Labor Leader Will Undergo Operation Soon.

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Stricken suddenly by an illness which threatened his life when he was a prisoner in San Quentin prison, Tom Mooney was resting in Los Angeles today preparatory to going to San Francisco for a probable operation.

All speaking engagements of the labor leader, recently pardoned by Governor Olson after serving a long sentence following his conviction on a charge of implication in the 1916 preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco, have been cancelled.

Mooney suffered an acute attack of gall bladder trouble, complicated by stomach ulcers, and must have a complete rest before an operation can be attempted, according to an announcement by Herbert Resner, attorney for the Tom Mooney Moulders' defense committee.

STAYS A SECRET

Senate Committee Rejects Plan To Bare Plane Sale Details.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The senate military affairs committee today rejected, 10 to 6, a proposal to make public its record concerning the aid given by the United States government to a French air mission that proposes to buy about 600 new American-made fighting planes.

Chairman Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., said that the committee's action was based upon the belief that "faith should be kept" with witnesses who had testified in secret.

2 OF QUADS LIVE

Tiny Girl Survivors Described In 'Really Good Condition.'

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Two tiny girl survivors of quadruplets born to 29-year-old Mrs. Ralph Pennetti were reported in "really good condition" by hospital attendants today.

The babies were born at five-minute intervals Saturday. The first, a boy, died at birth. The last of the four to arrive, another boy, lived 18 hours in an oxygen tent.

LOYALISTS HOLD TINY LAND STRIP

Few Hundred Fly Government Flag on Bit of Catalonia.

PRATS-DE-MOLLO, France — (AP)—A tiny bit of northern Catalonia where a few hundred men sat huddled around campfires in the snow-covered Pyrenees today was still Spanish government territory.

These "forgotten men" of the 11th and 17th army corps camped on the Spanish side of the mountains and the government tricolor still flew over one mountain hamlet in Catalonia, the rest of which had fallen to the insurgents.

Their advance guard had crossed the border into France through the French towns of LaManere and Prats-de-Mollo.

BACKS BRIDE, 13

Groom's Mother Says She'll Make 'A Wonderful Wife.'

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(AP)—WPA worker James Kent's mother today defended his marriage to a 13-year-old fifth grade student and expressed confidence the bride would make "a wonderful wife."

"I am very proud of my little daughter-in-law," asserted Mrs. John Kent. "We are going to give them 25 acres of our 160-acre farm on which to live happily. It is nobody's business if she is so much younger."

STATE EXAMINER KILLED

MASSILLON — (AP) — Ralph L. Oberlin, 55, of Canton, an examiner in the state auditor's department, was killed by an eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train here today while he was enroute to Columbus to attend a state examiners' school.

400,000 PASS BIER OF POPE IN COLD RAIN

Wet Throngs Move Slowly to Candle-Lighted Chapel to Pay Homage to Pontiff.

PREPARE FOR BURIAL

Cardinals Arrange Interment Ceremony During Angelus Period Tomorrow.

(By International News Service)

VATICAN CITY—Giving promise that the multitudes of the faithful who pay last tribute before the body of Pope Pius XI will be swollen to more than 400,000 by nightfall, 80,000 mourners at a time scorned personal discomfort today to stand in a chill rain outside St. Peter's.

As the wet and bedraggled throngs moved slowly and with quickly mumbled prayers past the candle-lighted chapel in the vast dimness of the Basilica where the dead pontiff lay in state, the congregation of cardinals proceeded with the tradition-bound measures which will end, probably after March 1, with the choice of one of their number as new Pope.

Cardinals Meet Again.

Thirty-three cardinals were present at today's congregation, the third held since the death of Pius. Afterwards the commission of three cardinals appointed to handle details of the conclave at which the next pontiff will be chosen held another session.

In the half-darkness of St. Peter's, above the shuffle of the mourners' feet, the second of the nine funeral masses for the Pope was intoned by Archbishop Pisani before the main altar in the nave.

Outside in the downpour, closely herded by police and troop reinforcements, an uncomfortable but patient and never-grumbuing crowd moved forward inch by inch. The queues stretched along the via della conciliazone and across St. Peter's square from the Basi-

SPRING RETURNS

Mercury Reaches 47; Rain Due Tonight or Tuesday.

It was spring again in Mansfield today—to an even greater degree than yesterday. The forecast threatened rain, to be sure, but it didn't say anything about colder weather.

The mercury stood at 47 at noon today, five degrees better than yesterday's high. At no time on either day had the mercury dropped below 32. Saturday, however, was a different story, with a cold, sharp wind blowing.

The forecast said tonight would be cloudy and rainy in the northwest, but warmer in central and south portions. Rain is scheduled for tomorrow.

FIREMAN KILLED

Dies Fighting Blaze In Top Floor of Building.

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — Fireman Frank Malley was killed today when a fire burst out in the top floor of a six-story loft building in the heart of the downtown commercial section. At least one other fireman was injured and was taken to a hospital for treatment. Flames sent flaring embers soaring to roofs of adjoining structures.

Sandra Sails

Sandra Rambeau, international glamour girl from Springfield, Mo., sails from New York for abroad where, rumor has it, a new suitor awaits here. A prince of India and a prince of England have been among those reportedly bewitched by her charms.

SEVEN HURT IN AREA TRAFFIC

2 Mansfielders Among Week-End Accident Victims; 5 Lose Lives in State.

Traffic mishaps injured seven persons, including two Mansfielders, in the Mansfield area over the week-end, while five persons died in Ohio crashes.

Only one of the persons injured in this section—an 11-year-old Bucyrus girl—was believed hurt seriously. She was Virginia Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Martin, who suffered a possible skull fracture when she was struck by a car driven by Orlin Habgilcel of McCutcheonville, near her home.

Habgilcel, who took the child to the hospital in his car, was exonerated. He told officers he blew the horn, but the child became confused and ran in front of his car. She is a fifth grade pupil in the Lincoln school in Bucyrus.

Miss Marybelle Shryock, 51 Arthur avenue, and her cousin, Walter Shryock, 148 West Dickson avenue, were treated at Crestline Emergency hospital for minor injuries following a crash north of Crestline about 6:30 p. m. Sunday. Miss Esther Ritter, Galion, driver of the car, also suffered slight injuries. Miss Shryock had a deep cut on her head and Shryock suffered bruises and lacerations. Miss Ritter said she lost control of the car, permitting it to turn over.

William Stiffler, 50, and Mabel Green, 35, both of Galion, suffered head and face lacerations about 12:40 a. m. Sunday when the car

3 KILLED WHEN DYNAMITE BURNS

Workmen Stand Around Fire As Blast Lets Loose.

MARS HILL, N. C.—(INS)—Three persons were reported killed and five others were injured today when a quantity of dynamite being used by a highway construction crew exploded.

According to first reports, the men were killed as they stood beside a fire near where the dynamite was placed.

Names of the victimes were not immediately available.

KILLED BY TRAIN

CAMBRIDGE—(INS)—John Mirling, 60-year-old WPA worker, was killed instantly today when he stepped in front of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad freight train at Kipling, east of here.

SENATE GROUP SEEKS TO CURB STRIKE RIOTS

La Follette Committee Says Company Police Systems Cause Bloodshed.

REPUBLIC STEEL SCORED

Report Declares Tactics of Company Violate Liberties of Its Employes.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The senat civil liberties committee recommended legislation today to stop labor spying and to restrict the activities of company police.

The committee, headed by Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis), was sharply critical of activities by police employed by the Republic Steel corporation and the Harlan County, Ky., Coal Operators association.

Points to Harlan, Ky.

"The experiences in Harlan county, Ky., and in the industrial communities where Republic Steel corporation operates," the committee said, "indicate clearly that where private police systems are used as instruments of anti-union policy, they:

"(A) Abridge and violate the civil liberties of workers and other individuals.

"(B) Violate the rights of labor guaranteed by federal statutes.

"(C) Result in riots and bloodshed, causing loss of life and injury to persons and property.

"(D) Endanger the public safety."

"On the economic front," the committee declared, "the use of private police systems as agents in employers' anti-union policy causes disorganization of markets and interruptions in the free flow of commerce.

'Unfair Advantage.'

"The ruthless and brutal activities of armed private guards to prevent union organization give unfair competitive advantage to those employers who oppress labor, create bitterness between labor and management, lead to strikes and cause interruptions in the flow of commerce.

"The use of private deputies in an anti-union campaign is inimical to the maintenance of orderly representative government. It

PLANE MISSING

Craft With Five Aboard Last Heard From During Storm.

JUNEAU, Alaska—(AP)—A Marine airways plane, with five persons aboard, which disappeared while fighting a storm on a flight from Ketchikan to Juneau, was sought today by land and air.

Last word from the plane, a Fairchild pontoon ship, was received at 2:15 p. m. (PST) yesterday, when Pilot Lon Cope radioed he had encountered a storm off Grand Island in Taku inlet, only a few miles from his destination. The plane left Ketchikan at 11 a. m.

With Cope were John Chappell, insurance agent; E. E. Ek, Earl Clifford, and George Chamberlain, all traveling salesmen.

MANNING SUED

Radio Sports Announcer Deserted Her, Wife Charges.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Tom Manning, NBC radio sports announcer, today was sued for divorce by his wife Amelia, on grounds of desertion.

The Mannings were married in 1924. In her petition, Mrs. Manning charged that the announcer left her "without cause or provocation" on Aug. 11, 1928, and has since "been wilfully absent." Manning said the divorce action had been mutually agreed upon.

BULLET BILLIARDS

Man In Hotel Misses Injury By Inches Twice.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Louis Konopaka thinks he's lucky.

As he sat reading in a chair in his hotel room a bullet crashed through the window. It missed him by inches, ricocheted against a door, passed within six inches of his chest and hit another wall. Konopaka dropped to the floor then.

Police couldn't find the mystery gunman.

BLAZE HITS CHURCH

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The Second Immanuel church here was destroyed by fire early today. Loss was estimated at $25,000. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

Hunt Aviator Who Flew 3 Miles Up, Then Disappeared

SPOKANE, Wash. — (AP) — Airmen and ground patrols joined today in a search for Roy Shreck, 36, who rode his plane three miles up into a stormy sky Sunday morning and failed to return.

Shreck, official United States weather bureau flyer, who every night for three years, in good weather and bad, has gone high aloft to obtain meteorological date that others might fly more safely, was last heard from at 1:20 a. m. yesterday.

Then his wife heard his voice over her short wave radio receiver. She said he told the airways communication station here that he was up 15,000 feet, headed into a wind so strong his plane was moving backward. He reported, she said, that his ship was laboring under a heavy load of ice and that, though blinded by fog, he was coming down.

He did not return to the airport. Attendants at the field said his gasoline supply was sufficient for only four or five hours.

CRASH KILLS 3

Third Injured When Unlicensed Plane Falls in Pasture.

ABILENE, Tex.—(U.P.)—An unlicensed, rebuilt biplane carried to death today two men. A third, who was trying his hand at the controls when the ship plunged into a pasture, was critically injured.

G. E. Morton, jr., 26, an oil refinery worker who owned the plane, and Harrell King, 22, were killed instantly. Gillard Turner, 20, garage mechanic piloting, suffering head and internal injuries.

Wayne County Well Gushes Oil, Ten Watch $8,000 'Pool' Grow

(By United Press)

WOOSTER—Ten men who chipped in $8,000 to drill a gas well near Burbank, Wayne county, were rewarded today by an oil gusher which promises to yield 200 barrels a day and an income of $7,000 a month.

The gusher was struck Thursday. Unprepared, the drillers were unable to get equipment to cap and pipe the well until Sunday. Today they were acidizing the well to force the oil to flow faster.

Charles M. Ditch, 43, unemployed Wayne county gas well driller, and Alex J. McCrea, vice president of the Ohio Provision company, who wanted a hobby, are responsible for the discovery.

McCrea a year ago leased part of his farm at Litchfield to a firm that wanted to drill a gas well. Ditch was foreman on the job. They became friends and Ditch urged McCrea to seek gas in the Burbank area.

"I was skeptical until they struck gas on my farm," McCrea said. "I guess I weakened. I promised Woody (Ditch) I would back him after the first of the year."

In the meantime Ditch lost his job.

In September McCrea raised $8,000 among friends, obtained 14 leases of 1900 acres from farmers near Burbank. A gas well was struck Nov. 4. Another well was struck Jan. 4. The third well produced oil.

University, Rotary Clubs Open Second Lecture Series Feb. 20

Mansfield's University and Rotary clubs today announced their second lecture series on "International Understanding."

Five lectures will comprise the series this year, with the first scheduled for next Monday evening Feb. 20, at the high school auditorium, and others on subsequent Monday evenings.

The speaker at the final lecture will be Louis Bromfield, Mansfield novelist. His subject, however, has not yet been announced.

Opening the series will be Dr. Karl W. Deutsch, of Prague, Czechoslovakia. He will speak on "The New Order In Central Europe."

Feb. 27—"The Good Neighbor Policy in the Americas," Prof. Isaac J. Cox, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

March 6—"The Search for a European Equilibrium," Eric I. Grimwade, Stoke-on-Trent, England.

March 13 — "Outlook for the Far East," Dr. No-Young Park, Chicago, Ill. Dr. Park is a Chinese.

March 20 — Louis Bromfield, subject to be announced.

The lecture series has been arranged by a joint committee from both clubs. University club members are Henry Huston, chairman; Lewis Hartman, Emerson Yocum and Robert Kuhn. Rotary club members are William M. Weldon, chairman; Louis Olson, Charles Keating, Fred Tracy and Paul McConnell.

Sports Widow Complains

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

There's a line in the marriage ceremony which reads, "forsaking all others." But this, as many wives have discovered, refers to human rivals, not golf clubs, fishing tackle, guns, tennis racquets and other gadgets which make the sportsmen late for dinner and often keeps him away from home altogether.

The following letter recently came to this column:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Sportsmen do not make good home-makers and family men. An all-around sportsman is apt to belong to that old-fashioned masculine type who believes a woman's place is in the home, to keep the home fires burning and to rear the children.

"If you choose a sportsman for your husband, you will have to try and figure out just what part you play in his life, in competition with his yearly round of sports.

"In September, he goes on hunting trips to the mountains. And when he comes home he couldn't miss the World Series baseball games for anything on earth. In October and November he'll go duck-hunting, although, as a side issue, he'll still have an interest in the various football games.

"In December, the horse-racing season opens, and he's entirely occupied with them through January, February and March. The months of April, May and June begin to call for fishing trips, either to the mountains for trout or to the sea for bigger fish. July and August are taken up with swimming, tennis or golf, whichever sport your Nimrod likes best.

"Unless you are especially interested in most of these sports, you'll find yourself home alone a great deal of the time, looking after the children, while your life partner is out pursuing his favorite sport.

"If you happen to rear a son, as this writer has, your sports-loving husband will hardly be able to wait until he's old enough to handle a gun to take him out and teach him to be a great sportsman, an out-of-doors man like his daddy. And then you'll find yourself alone again.

Hints For Clever Cooks

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Here we have assembled a neat collection of kitchen and cookery hints, most of them contributed by kind and clever readers. They follow in any old sequence:

Place a teaspoon of moist peanut butter in the bottom of muffin rings. Pour in plain batter and bake as usual. Very tasty, and our favorite from now on! That difficulty we have at times of keeping rice white and fluffy is licked by adding a teaspoon lemon juice to water in which the rice is cooked.

To segment oranges and grapefruit for a salad is a task at which many of us rebel. To ease this situation, submerge the fruit in boiling water for three minutes. Then cut a piece from the top of the fruit with a sharp knife and peel as you would an apple. The outside membrane pulls away with the rind. It won't spoil flavor of fruit if the three-minute rule is obeyed.

Don't Remove It.

The thin, paper-like covering or "fell" on a roast of lamb should not be removed. This is contrary to general opinion as the though has been that this skin affects the flavor of the meat. As a matter of fact, it in no way affects the flavor but rather helps the roast to keep its shape and cook faster. A square-cut lamb shoulder is a real economy roast. Even though it is one of the less expensive cuts from the forequarter, it has the tenderness and rich flavor found in the more expensive cuts. Its size, approximately three and one-half pounds, makes it the ideal lamb roast for a family of two or three. The bones should be cracked at the market to make carving easy.

Raised dough dries out very quickly and often becomes crusty To prevent this, either place the dough in a tightly-covered container or grease is lightly when it is exposed to the air and set to raise.

Hamburger Shamrocks certainly make St. Patrick's day and the beginning of spring seem nearer! Move up the calendar and serve 'em now. The recipe calls for one pound hamburger, one egg, one-quarter cup soft bread crumbs, three-quarters teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon poultry seasoning, one quarter teaspoon pepper and three green peppers. Beat the egg, add crumbs, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Cut rings one-half inch thick from green peppers. Pat hamburger mixture into rings. Broil seven minutes on one side and six minutes on the other. Delicious!

My Neighbor Says:

That gladioli can be planted any time after the frost is out of the ground up to the middle of June, but that it is best to put a few bulbs into the ground every week, in order to have a long succession of flowers. Four inches deep and four inches apart is a good general rule for planting, and it is important to keep the ground well cultivated all through the growing season.

Beet greens afford variety in spring vegetable serving. Select greens to which beets about one inch in diameter are attached. Wash well. Cook both beets and greens for about 20 minutes—or until the beets are tender when tested with a fork. Drain and serve with butter and seasonings.

Do This If You're NERVOUS
Don't take chances on products you know nothing about or rely on temporary relief when there's need of a good general system tonic like time-proven Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots.
Let Pinkham's Compound help build up more physical resistance and thus aid in calming jangly nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.
For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's—over 1,000,000 women have written in reporting glorious benefits—it MUST BE GOOD!

THEATERS

IT DOESN'T seem so many years ago that Hal Roach was making only two-reel comedies. Now the Roach studio is putting out some of the bigger pictures, among the ones now in production being "Captain Fury," with Victor McLaglen and Brian Aherne. . . . Bette Davis will wear 20 different gowns in "Juarez," in which she plays the Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and each one is so distinctive that it will be "torn down" and the cloth used for something else, because none of the costumes could be worn by extras in other pictures—they would be recognized.

Stay Away From Ghosts.

If there is a moral in "Topper Takes a Trip" it is that you will be much better off if you don't get mixed up with ghosts, regardless of how charming or well-intentioned the ghosts may be. Roland Young, as the meek little banker, gets into all sorts of mad escapades and lands in the divorce courts as the result of running around with the ghostly Constance Bennett. Miss Bennett is the lady who, in an earlier picture of Topper, has her earthly career cut short in an auto accident, and finds that she must do a Boy Scout deed before she can find peace in the hereafter. Billie Burke and Alexander D'Arcy are major players in this Hal Roach comedy at the Madison.

The Ozark Country.

There are few places in America more scenically lovely than the Ozark mountains, and the beauty of this country is brought to the screen in natural colors in "Jesse James," Ohio theater attraction. Against this romantic background is told the story of the James boys, who were the American forerunners of the modern John Dillinger and Alvin Karpis. The scenes in which the James boys stage their train robberies are glorified reminescences of the first feature picture ever made—"The Great Train Robbery." Tyrone Power and Henry Fonda play the wild James boys and Nancy Kelly, a newcomer, is Jesse James' young wife.

Brent and DeHavilland.

The dramatic and action-filled story of the fight between the wheat growers of California and the hydraulic mining companies is told in "Gold Is Where You Find It," a Majestic attraction for three days starting tomorrow. George Brent and Olivia DeHavilland are starred with Claude Rains at the wheat rancher, John Litel with the miners, and Tim Holt and Margaret Lindsay in the cast. "While New York Sleeps," with Michael Whalen, Jean Rogers and Chick Chandler is the second feature.

Rivalry Among Columnists.

The rivalry between two newspaper columnists, one of which believes a beautiful woman on trial for poisoning her husband is guilty, while the other tries to establish her innocence is the theme of "Personal Secretary," current picture at the Ritz with William Gargan and Joy Hodges. Also shown is "Boys Town," one of the top bracket pictures of the year in which Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney are starred. It is a human interest story with plenty of thrills and heart-tuggings.

Joe's Svengali.

Richard Lane, who has played stooge to Joe Penner many times in the star's radio skits, has a part in Penner's film comedy, "I'm From the City," at the Park theater. Lane plays the Svengali who makes a whirlwind circus rider out of Joe when the latter is hypnotized. But when Joe isn't under the "spell," he's scared to death of horses. "Pride of the Navy" teams James Dunn and Rochelle Hudson in a story of Annapolis.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Never have I put in a more grueling hour than the one spent in cueing Mary for the rendition before Philip Veritzen of her role in my play. No one could know better than I the terrific strain his gifted daughter-in-law was undergoing, for I was the instigator—and the originator—of the deceit we were practicing upon Philip Veritzen. We were making him think Mary was practicing the role in the wooden, lifeless manner he had imposed upon her, while in reality she and I were straining our strength and nerves to the utmost to surprise him at the public rehearsals with so spirited and beautiful a rendition of the part that he would not dare to take it from her as I was confident he meant to do.

Mary is as good a "trouper" as one would wish to see. She went through her role in exactly the manner Philip Veritzen had outlined to her. Not by the slightest inflection did she betray that she ever had heard of any other way to play the role. And when she had finished, she looked archly over at her father-in-law and said with a little note of appeal in her voice:

"How was it, Father Veritzen? I do so hope it pleased you."

"Extremely satisfactory," he said judicially. "Your rendition does great credit to you and to the lady who has trained you."

"I have not a single change to make," he went on. "You have followed my suggestions to the letter and I am very well pleased."

"Oh! I am so glad!' Mary murmured, and if I had not known her so well, I would have sworn she was ecstatic in her relief at his kindly verdict.

"You do not advise any lessoning of our drill, do you?" I asked smoothly.

He regarded me steadily for a second, and there was something in his piercing, dark eyes which I could not read.

"Yes," he answered, surprisingly enough to me, "I do advise just that. There is danger of her getting over-trained, you know."

"Yes, I know," I answered, a bit dazed, and again, a fleeting, enigmatic smile curved his lips.

"Of course, I do not mean an absolute cessation of the training," he went on, "but you certainly can relax a bit in your schedules. I am very glad for my own sake that this is so. I shall have no compunctions in taking you away for a day's visit at the farm."

I saw Mary's eyes widen at the proposal, but she made no comment, and her father-in-law went on:

"This rehearsal to which I have just listened," he said, "ought to suffice for tomorrow as well as today. Is there any reason why you cannot come with me to the farm tomorrow as well as a later day?"

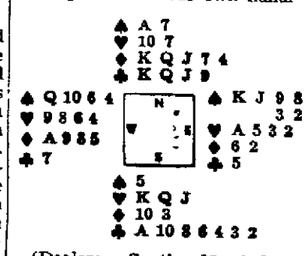
"The Authority on Authorities"

OBEY THAT SIGNAL

ON PLENTY of hands, the entire foundation for the defensive play is based on the size of the card played by third-hand on the opening lead. Seldom should its message be violated. If it can be read as the lowest held, the player is usually asking for a switch to another suit as soon as his partner gets the lead. If it can be read clearly as higher than his lowest, it generally asks for a repeat of the same suit. If it is a non-committal, the partner is asked to base his actions on trying to develop tricks in his own hand.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South opened the bidding here with 1-Club, considering that his great length justified a shading of his top-card strength. North answered with 1-Diamond, East injected 1-Spade, South bid 2-Clubs, West 2-Spades and North forced with 4-Diamonds, in view of his club fit. East bid 4-Spades, as an intended sacrifice, and South passed to see if his partner wanted to double it. When North instead showed a fit at 5-Clubs, South got over-ambitious. He would have done well to pass the 5-Spades which East now essayed, to see if his partner wished to double, but instead he ambitiously bid 6-Clubs.

Perhaps that flamboyant call was justified by his confidence in the defenders' proclivity to mistakes. West led the spade 10, though the Q would have been the choice of most sound players, but that was unimportant. The ace won in dummy, a club was cashed and a diamond led. West won, led another spade, and the contract was made, South's hearts being parked on the dummy's diamonds.

West should have read his partner for six spades, with all that bidding, and for something on the side, which could be only in hearts. Had he also read a low-card signal from his partner, he would have switched and beaten the contract.

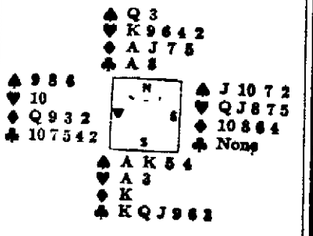
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If South gets to 7-Clubs on this deal, would you double in the West?

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Feb. 14.

Rather lively conditions are to be expected on the basis of this day's astral operations. There may be sudden developments calling for changed plans or objectives, with writings, documents or business contracts involved. These require discretion and wise adaptation, be wary of strangers or strange situations. With precaution there may be many advantages and some definite progress through new opportunities or speculation.

Those whose birthday it is will find that much depends upon their own astute and vigilant management of their affairs during the year, in which sudden and unusual opportunities may arise for attaining high objectives. Change in plans and environs may be advantageous, but be prudent with strangers and careful with all papers. Not too hazardous speculative enterprises should thrive.

A child born on this day may be efficient, ambitious and adventurous, and should carve a successful career for itself, possibly through unusual and progressive ideas or by speculative enterprises.

Keep Slim As Years March Along

MME. QUI VIVE

Forty is an interesting age for a woman. By that time she has learned that graciousness is the highest card in the beauty suit, that tranquility has a greater appeal than vivacity. Her charm is intelligence rather than prettiness.

So far, so good. Unless she is naturally the slender type and has minded her exercises like a good girl, she is likely to find changes in her silhouette that don't make for a contended mind.

Arms and legs should be slender and round. The rounded waist is more to be desired than the one that is flat, front and back. By deep breathing and consistent, persistent stretching, the muscles interlacing from under the ribs down into the hips can be kept strong and solid. Stretching keeps the upper portion of the torso from settling down into the tummy, causing fullness beneath the bust and doing away with the little nip-in at the waistline.

Fat cells seem to prefer to settle on the mid-section of the human frame. That is because that part of the body gets little exercise, arms and legs being pretty much on the move during the day's activity. To keep adipose tissue from collecting try this exercise:

Place the feet under a heavy piece of furniture, lie flat on the back on the floor. Keep the palms of the hands close to the thighs. Lift the upper portion of the body slowly until you are in a sitting position. Don't let the knees buckle, don't support yourself with your hands. Back to first position. You may bump the back of your head a few times, but you won't mind that.

New Ideas Add Verve To Soups

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE (A.P. Feature Service Writer.)

Serving soups time after time with the usual salted wafers or oyster crackers does get monotonous. You vary the soups, of course, but there are lots of housewives who never vary the trimming.

And there is such a variety of pungent, home made tidbits one can prepare that a simple bowl of soup always can come to the table with a new appeal.

Some Starters.

Here are a few of the many possibilities for soup accessories:

Spread thin biscuit dough with anchovy paste mixed with a little cream. Roll into oneand one-half inch rolls and cut off half-inch slices. Pop a trayful into a moderate oven until they are well-browned. Serve piping hot.

You can change off on this trick in many of these combinations: chopped ham mixed with savory salad dressing; chopped, ripe olives combined with sweet pickle relish; grated cheese mixed with horseradish; or blended chili sauce and sardines.

For real taste pleasure try this: Cream together half a cup of butter, a third of a cup of grated cheese, one cup of flour and a fourth of a teaspoon of salt. Roll the dough out very thin. With a crinkly-edged cutter, cut out sections of the dough. Spread them lightly with chopped, salted peanuts seasoned with celery salt, paprika and minced parsley. Fold half over and prick the tops. Bake until browned. Serve warm.

Grated Cheese.

Spread buttered crackers with grated cheese that has been lightly flavored with garlic and celery salt or spread thin pastry with a savory ham relish. Bake either until browned.

For something especially crunchy, add chopped, browned bacon to any topping.

Like chili con carne? Tiny squares of hot cornbread are a perfect mate for chile con carne, mulligatawny or old-fashioned chicken soup.

Suitable For Parties

By PAULINE SCHOFIELD
Home Service Expert of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

February, featuring birthdays, is a short, gay month, and we are most enthusiastic about giving you some appropriate recipes. Of course there are the days with patriotic motif. For Feb. 22 you will want a gorgeous Washingon Cherry Tree Roll.

St. Valentine parties cannot be overlooked and for them what could be more intriguing than Strawberry Sweethearts and Heart molds of Strawberry Refrigerator Cream. If you desire an appropriate salad, make your favorite lemon jelly and pour into a large heart-shaped mold, and decorate by letting some small heart-shaped slices of beets set in bottom of mold.

Washington Cherry Tree Roll.
5 egg whites
1 cup sugar, sifted 3 times
5 egg yolks
1 cup flour, sifted
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lomon juice

Beat egg whites stiff but not dry, add half the sugar slowly, beating constantly. Beat egg yolks light, add the rest of the sugar, beating constantly. Add to egg whites very slowly, beating constantly. Combine flour and salt, and cut slowly into egg mixture. Add lemon rind and juice. Pour into a shallow baking pan (10"x 15") and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F., 20 to 25 minutes. Spread with cherry filling * and roll up and chill in refrigerator. When ready to serve, place the roll on a serving plate, and cover with white icing. Decorate with small cherry trees, made by using green gum drops for tree stems and leaves, and halved maraschino cherries to complete the trees.

Cherry Filling.
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons cornstarch
6 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sliced marachino cherries.

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt together, and add to beaten egg yolk. Pour on scalded milk, return to double boiler and cook, stirring frequently until thick. Remove from heat, cool, and all vanilla and cherries.

*White Icing.
1 egg white
1 teaspoon milk vinegar
½ teaspoon lemon extract
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Add vinegar, flavoring and cornstarch. Gradually add sugar, beating constantly, until fluffy and ready to spread.

Strawberry Sweethearts.
¼ tsp. salt — 1 tsp, vanilla
1 tsp. vinegar — I C. egg whites
2 C. sugar
Strawberry ice cream

Add salt, vinegar and vanilla to egg whites. Beat to a stiff foam. Then add the sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is stiff.

Cut a 4½ inch heart shape pattern. Trace 8 hearts on sheet of brown paper. Place 3 or 4 Tbsp. meringue in each heart, shape carefully, hollowing the center. Bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees until firm, dry, and lightly browned, about 60 minutets. To serve, carefully hollow out centers, fill with strawberry ice cream and top each serving with a French bonbon, using assorted color.

Strawberry Refrigerator Cream.
1½ cups canned strawberries, drained*
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin
¾ cup strawberry juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup cream, whipped
2 egg whites, beaten stiff

Combine strawberries and sugar. Soak gelatin in half the strawberry juice. Heat remaining juice. Add gelatin and berry mixture. Heat until sugar and gelatin are thoroughly dissolved. Add lemon juice and salt. Stir and remove from fire when mixture thickens. Cool. Fold in whipped cream and stiffly beaten agg whites.

Pour into molds and chill in refrigerator 4 to 6 hours. Unmold and garnish wih whipped cream and strawberries. Serves 8.

*Fresh strawberries or other berries may be used for this recipe. Crush the fresh berries with the sugar. Soak gelatin in ¾ cup cold water and dissolve over hot water, stirring well. Add the crushed berries, lemon juice and salt. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream and stiffly beaten egg whites.

Favored Foods For Holiday

The fairest of fare fit for any king is fragrant and steaming hot coffee with heart-topped cherry-filled tarts for St. Valentine's day doings. The tarts are dainty and delicious, but the modern queen knows well that the coffee pot holds the key to any man's heart. So make your coffee and bake your tarts! Valentine tarts (pastry): 1¾ cups flour, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons lard, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon phosphate baking powder, water to mix. Mix dry ingredients; cut in fat with knife or spatula. Do not over mix. Add just enough water to combine ingredients; work lightly together with a fork until dough is formed. Roll on floured board to desired thickness. Line pastry shells and "crimp" edges. Cut hearts with cutter and bake on top or separately, then drop on the finished tarts. Filling: 1 can cherries, ¾ cup juice, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 thin slices lemon cut in quarters, small unbaked pie shells. Sprinkle pie shells with cornstarch and sugar and the balance over cherries. Bake at 450° F. for 20 minutes. Serve hot with ice cream or cold with whipped cream sprinkled with chopped pecans if desired.

Kitchen Hints

Be most alert in the kitchen and see that all gas burners are completely turned off. A little leak will cause a headache, a big one can be fatal. Sometimes an apron will catch on the burner handle as you brush past the stove and turn it on accidentally.

To make silver and glassware shine, dry them directly out of hot sudsy water. This treatment also helps to retard tarnishing of silver, which takes place more quickly in winter time when the furnace is on.

To remove thin brown skin covering from nut meats, cover the meats with boiling water and let them stand five minutes in a covered dish. Drain and then quickly rub off the skins with the fingers. A small sharp knife may be needed on Brazil nuts.

TRUE-or False?

COFFEE'S PICK-UP LASTS ONLY TWO HOURS.* True? ☐ False? ☐

You can drink as much coffee as you want after dinner. You will be exhilarated. You'll feel better, pepper. Because your brain as well as your body will be invigorated you'll probably be wittier, more entertaining. You'll be awake . . alive! But by bedtime . . d surely two hours elapse between after dinner and your bedtime—the pick-up will have disappeared for 97 out of 100 people. Your cup could have contained plain water, as far as sleeping's concerned. You'll slumber like a baby.

State Finances, School Bill Up for Assembly Action

HOUSE RUSHES JOB LAW SHIFT TO EARLY O. K.

Hopes to Pass 'Ripper' Bill to Thwart Court Battle by Labor Forces.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—After cleaning up the expected flood of bills today, the legislature will get down to work tomorrow to complete revamping of the state's financial system, continue with the administration "ripper" program and pass a school note refunder bill.

Several bills abolishing earmarking of revenue for specific purposes were up for house action after passing unanimously in the senate. Revenues from liquor profits, intangible tax and use tax would go into the general fund under the provisions of three measures.

The Republican-controlled house was expected to rush the job insurance reorganization bill to early passage in order to balk the efforts of attorneys for labor interests who planned an attack on the emergency clause.

Fight 90-Day Clause.

Rep. W. H. Whetro (D-Lawrence) an organizer for the American Federation of Labor, said labor forces planned an appeal to the Ohio supreme court to upset the 90-day clause.

If the bill went to the governor the way it is set up the present unemployment compensation commission could be abolished immediately, while with the emergency clause out it would be another four months before the administration could touch the department.

Bearing approval of the administration, the McGregor-Kellar bill which would allow the state treasurer to pay school notes from inactive funds of the state treasury seemed assured of passage in the senate.

The bill has the backing of the administration as a means toward making up the $17,000,000 school foundation fund deficit piled up when revenues from sales tax dropped off alarmingly in 1937 and 1938.

Meanwhile, Republican Majority Leader J. Harry McGregor planned to rush the U. C. C. ripper through committee and send the measure to the floor of the house for a vote in anticipation of the legal maneuver of attorneys for the CIO and A. F. of L.

Should labor interests be successful in blocking legality of the emergency clause by showing that the present commission is functioning satisfactorily the next move would be to carry the issue to the electorate on a referendum to invalidate the general assembly's expected action.

Today was the deadline for offering of bills without suspending the rules.

Mansfielder Among 159,000 Getting Income Tax Rebates

A Mansfield banker will be one of 159,233 persons who will share in a $34,529,774 rebate on overpayment of taxes to the United States treasury department, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, said today.

Harry S. Black, president of the Farmers Saving and Trust company, will receive $943 from the government for over-payment of his personal income taxes.

The largest over-payment, more than a million and a half dollars, will be returned to the Ohio Oil company of Findlay, O. A number of Hollywood stars were among those listed for rebates, including Marian Davies, who will get back more than $5,000, Leslie Howard, Harold Lloyd, Sonja Henie and others.

Over-payments on taxes doesn't represent carelessness, the dispatch said, pointing out that the treasury department frequently reverses itself on rulings, and something that was listed as an asset at the time of making out the returns, may be deemed worthless by a new ruling by the time the taxes are examined by the department.

GIRL, 5, DIES

Child, Ill One Week, Succumbs at Home Near Shiloh.

SHILOH—Phyllis Ann Conway, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conway, died Saturday afternoon at the family home in Butler township after an illness of one week.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Baptist church at Coal Grove, O., with Rev. Dillon, the pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Coal Grove cemetery. Surviving besides the parents, are four sisters, Ermajene, Avanella, Gloria June and Mary Edith, and a brother, Lowell F., all at home.

Up and Down THE STREET

Pictures of two Mansfield young people appeared on the society pages of Sunday's Cleveland Plain Dealer along with other pictures taken at the annual Junior prom of University school in Cleveland, Feb. 4. The pictures were those of Spencer Draffan, Millborough road, a junior at the Cleveland school, and Miss Josephine Hughes, 42 Sherman avenue. Miss Hughes was Draffan's guest at the prom.

A story in The News-Journal led to a reunion in Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday of Sheriff E. P. Long of Richland county and Glenn Oswalt, former Mansfielder, who hadn't seen each other since Oswalt went to the west coast two years ago. Oswalt, a News-Journal subscriber, read that Sheriff Long would be in the California city last week to return a prisoner to Mansfield. He learned from the police department where the sheriff was staying and called on him at the hotel. "It IS a small world," Long said, "and you ought to have seen how glad Oswalt was to see someone from the home town."

Spectators at the closing shifts of The News-Journal bowling sweepstakes at the Meder alleys late Sunday afternoon got an extra special treat. Tommy Henrich, young outfield star of the world champion New York Yankees, made an unannounced appearance, and drew a big hand when M. S. Meder introduced him to the crowd. The Massillon boy was in the city visiting his brother, Ed.

Jack Hahne, Mansfield Senior High student, is probably the most envied boy in school today, for yesterday he established himself as probably the youngest solo pilot in this part of the state. Jack is 16, a student in the 11-A class and has been combining aeronautical instructions with his school studies, with Bud Harrington, veteran Mansfield pilot as his instructor. Jack is a nephew of Harrington and a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hahne, Reba avenue. He made his first solo flight yesterday at the city airport.

DENIES MOTION

Court Refuses Faber's Appeal for Dismissal.

ASHLAND — Judge H. E. Culbertson of common pleas court, today overruled a motion of attorneys of County Treasurer H. O. Faber and his son, Olen R. Faber, a former chief deputy treasurer, to quash charges of embezzlement against the defendants on the grounds that the indictment is vague.

Principal attack on the indictment was against one word, "said;" which appears improperly in the indictment, the Faber's counsel. F. D. Schell and L. A. Straits, contended.

Judge Culbertson later granted torney A. Ross Sivering to amend the indictment. Sivering's motion the indictment. Silvering's motion asked for permission to strike out the word "said."

The Fabers were indicted by the grand jury on a charge of misusing sales tax funds. They will face court for a hearing Friday morning.

$20,000 BLAZE HITS COLLEGE

Observatory, Library Damaged by Flames at Hiram; Fire Ruins Valuable Records.

(By Associated Press)

HIRAM—James W. Richardson, Hiram college treasurer, estimated damage at $20,000 today in the Sunday fire which destroyed the college observatory and older half of the library. A $7,500 telescope was included in the loss.

More than 100 students joined volunteer fire departments from Hiram, Mantua, Garrettsville and Windham in fighting the flames. The students saved more than half the 35,000 volumes in the library.

Sherman Leach, Hiram fire chief, ascribed origin of the fire to an overheated pipe leading from the furnace in the library basement to the chimney.

Besides thousands of books, the library's collection of government records, dating from the time James A. Garfield was president of the college, was lost.

The files of phonetic literature compiled by Dr. John S. Kenyon, pronounciation editor of Webster's dictionary, also were destroyed. Classed as irreplacable, the Kenyon record loss was not included in the Richardson estimate.

Dr. Kenneth I. Brown, Hiram president, said trustees would meet Wednesday to consider replacement of the library, its books and equipment.

MRS. MARY GEHL TAKEN BY DEATH

Native of Germany Had Lived In Mansfield For 16 Years.

Mrs. Mary Gehl, 44, of rear 35 Arlington avenue, died in the General hospital Sunday after an illness of four weeks. She was born in Germany, Jan. 20, 1895, and came to Mansfield 16 years ago.

Her husband, Leo; her mother, Mrs. Caroline Schrepf of Germany; a brother, Andrew, and a sister, Hilda, also of Germany, survive. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Paul Saleste of St. John's Evangelical church officiating. The body will be taken to Cleveland after the services for cremation.

MARRIAGE BAN FOR PHYSICALLY UNFIT WEIGHED IN 12 STATES

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Bills which would make pre-marital physical examinations mandatory were considered today in more than a dozen state legislatures.

In every case the proposals were designed to prevent the marriage of couples in which either party was found to have a communicable social disease, an Associated Press survey showed.

Measures being considered by the Georgia legislature and an administration sponsored measure in Indiana specified that the physical examinations be given 30 days before issuance of the license.

In Texas where statutes already require the bridegroom to pass an examination, a bill offered would make this provision of the marriage code applicable to the bride as well. Awaiting action in Massachusetts was a proposal directing city clerks to furnish couples applying for licenses with information on social diseases.

Bills for pre-marital examinations also were before legislatures in Maryland, California, North Dakota, Colorado, Maine, Arizona, Tennesssee, Idaho and Vermont.

Marriageable age minimums were raised in measures introduced in Ohio and Arkansas. In the former state, a legislator proposed increasing the present limit for men from 18 to 20 years and for women from 16 to 18 years. The Arkansas bill would raise the minimum for women from 14 to 16 years.

Bills dealing with revision of divorce laws also held an important position on the legislative calendars.

Up for consideration in the New Mexico house was a senate-approved act which would shorten the residence requirements for divorce from one year to three months. In Montana, one legislator asked that the residence provision be slashed from one year to 30 days.

A bill in California would add incompatibility and insanity as causes for divorce.

Bills to abolish alienation of affections and breach of promise suits were offered in Ohio and Tennessee.

GREEN DRAFTS PROGRAM FOR SPRING DRIVE

Coal and Automobile Fields to Form Battleground, Council Told in Florida.

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla.—The American Federation of Labor leadership gave notice today that the nation's coal fields and automobile industry may be the spring testing grounds for the AFL-CIO struggle unless a peace settlement terminates the rivalry.

After two weeks of conferences with his executive council, President William Green disclosed that the AFL strategy in the war with John L. Lewis' CIO was shaping up along these lines:

1—The Progressive Miners of America, an AFL chartered union in the coal fields, will demand collective bargaining recognition from some 250 coal operators as soon as the industry's contract with Lewis' United Mine Workers expires March 31.

Woo Martin's Group.

2—The AFL council is "speculating" on the possibilities that Homer Martin and his anti-CIO faction in the automobile industry will not be able to maintain an independent union status after splitting off from CIO's United Auto Workers' union.

If the Martinites failed to maintain an independent union in competition with CIO their alternative would be affiliation with the AFL. Green said no overtures had been received from the Martin group for an AFL charter.

The Martin and anti-Martin groups have scheduled rival conventions in March and the outcome may determine whether the AFL will reappear as an organizing force in the automobile field.

The two weeks' council meeting, which may adjourn early this week, developed no new approach to the recurring question of how to restore peace and unity in the labor movement.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Defends Sanitary Methods Used By Nation's Big Food Manufacturers

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—In connection with the recent Gannett-Ickes debate on the freedom of the press, an indignant citizen sent me citations of several cases in which some government department fined well-known producers of flour and meat for permitting impurities to exist in food which they had placed on the market. A candy case was cited, also, in which trash was discovered by assay and a fine was collected.

It is argued that because these cases did not appear in the daily papers (and I am asked to accept this correspondent's word for it, which may be deliberately untrue or uninformed), the press convicts itself of conspiracy against the public health. I do not use the firms' names because I have not checked his statements—another responsibility of the press.

But I wonder if anyone believes that a company manufacturing huge quantities of flour would knowingly permit a barrel to go out to the market containing impure matter, or one of the big Chicago packing companies would similarly risk commercial opprobrium to save the price of a few measly hams.

I can't remember when I last saw a flour ad in a newspaper, and I chance a guess that, since home baking went out of style and the bakeries took over the work, the big milling companies have found it profitless to advertise direct in anything like the old volume, although the grocers sometimes advertise flour incidentally! The packers' products are advertised, but to a large extent only indirectly in the announcement of local dealers, chain or independent. Some candy companies advertise, but there are many small operators who do not.

Nowadays Washington is so big that it is impossible to dig out and print every item of news, and such incidents as these fines are unimportant by comparison with the political news. But aside from that, a people who consume vast amounts of food in greasy spoon restaurants which do not advertise and always carry on their own hands the germs of awful ills cannot be menaced very seriously by occasional errors in the preparation and marketing of quantity goods.

I will lay a little bet that my correspondent's own hands are as dangerous to his health after he has run them along the hand-rail of a subway station or handled a nickel as the flour, ham and candy were. I would ask whether he has ever read any of those fearsome stories about the germ-carrying activities of the ordinary house fly and whether he always throws out, as unfit for consumption, a whole bowl of sugar because a fly has made a landing in the midst of it. If he says "yes" he is a liar, and if he says "no" his complaint is a sanctimonious fake.

We always had a flour bin when I was young, and occasionally a mouse would be found romping around in it. Did we throw out fifty or a hundred pounds of flour just for that? Like hell we did, and neither did our neighbors. And though we all occasionaaly ate flour which was contaminated in the same way as the milling company's error which was caught and penalized by the law, there were no plagues in our town nor any ills attributed to the presence or activities of mice in flour.

I think people's germ-resistance must be very high if all we are told about vast settlements of horrible germs abiding in uncovered sugar bowls and butter dishes, in the talons of flies, in half-washed dishes and eating tools in restaurants and in the very air we breathe and on everything we touch in cities. If the resistance were not high we all would have been dead long ago—than which worse ideas might be conjured, at that.

The French are a hardy race, but Americans were horrified by their untidiness. And there is no nation on earth whose food receives the same care as to sanitation as that which is prepared for the Americans by great packing companies, not all of which advertise in the papers. Yet those who shudder at the discovery of a few mechanical mistakes by big foodstuff companies and discern a conspiracy of silence in the failure of the press to suggest that these errors are not exceptional but typical are the very type who favor destruction of the big companies which introduced hospital cleanliness into food preparation.

A person who goes around wearing rubber gloves and a 'flu mask and tests his food and eating vessels under a microscope may step off a curb and be fatally nudged in the flask by a cargo truck.

What is the idea, anyway? Do such people want to live forever, and what fun is living amid such haunting fears?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Most interesting chap I've met in a long time isn't a movie star, or director, or writer, or executive. He isn't a glamour guy, and you won't find him in the bright spots where the candid cameras are clicking. He is a business man.

You say "business" in Hollywood and right away you think of "prosaic" and "hardboiled." J. S. Rex Cole is certainly not the former; he is the latter—when he has to be—because his particular business is managing the financial affairs of movie people whose aggregate annual earnings average hundreds of thousands of dollars.

He started it 14 years ago—he's the town's longest-established man in his field—when Warner Baxter turned over his accounts to him. Baxter is still on his client list, with about 29 others like Constance Bennett (herself no dipsydoodle as a business mind). A. Edward Sutherland. Henry King, Ronald Colman, Zoe Akins, Bob Montgomery, Tay Garnett, Ernst Lubitsch, Herbert Marshall, Grace Moore.

He knew nothing about Hollywood when he came, but he did know about business—two degrees from the University of Chicago, five years in the Orient, three spent in business. He'd heard about Los Angeles, so he came to see if it were all true.

He saw the three great industries: citrus fruits, oil and motion pictures. He chose the latter as offering least competition in his field, and settled down to a job for which, till then, there was absolutely no competition: that of No Man in a Yes Man's Paradise.

Now a talk with a man like this ought to produce reams of copy about the foibles of Hollywood's famous—but remember that this Rex Cole is a successful business manager. If his clients ever do those little foolish things that make good stories, you won't hear about them from Cole.

But he can—and may—tell you stories of plain and fancy chiseling, sharpshooting and conniving that he has witnessed in his years of watchdogging stellar treasuries.

"The set-up in Hollywood is perfect for crooks, will always attract them," he is sure. "Here we have a community where the collective earning power is staggering; the people earning these huge incomes are artists, hence often given to impulsiveness, often to emotional decisions. Many have risen financially from little to great income in space of two or three years, have never before given a thought to business matters. Added to this, there's the equable climate, the close proximity of winter and summer sports to attract the gentleman crook between 'deals.' Could anything be finer—from the crook's point of view?

"Many motion picture people have brilliant minds on matters outside their profession as well as within it, and are fully capable of keen business judgment; even these prefer to devote all their energies to their creative work, and haven't time for business details. Others frankly admit they know nothing about business. From both types we draw our clients."

Cole says No to the stars as well as to the people who would victimize the stars. It's in his agreement with them that he will make them live with prescribed budgets. They "take" it, too, and agreeably.

Tyger Matmen Close Season

Face Columbus in Finale; Hold South to Tie.

Mansfield high school's mat victories have not been numerous this season, but the Tyger grapplers have shown great improvement over the form they displayed early in the campaign.

Thursday the Tygers complete their schedule at Columbus South, and they are anxious to close with a victory.

There is a possiblity that Coach F. B. Million's men will turn the trick too, as they proved Saturday on the Mansfield mat that they are capable of holding their own with the Columbus team. The Tygers made their best showing of the season in this match.

Mansfield and South battled to a 21½ to 21½ tie, with each team winning four bouts. A draw in the last and deciding bout forced the match into a deadlock.

Albert Young, Mansfield 145-pounder, and Martin of South were the participants in the draw, which they were unable to break in two overtime periods.

The Mansfield victories were scored by Jack Swartz, who threw McCormick in one minute five seconds; Frank Swartz, winner over Stevens in four mintues 13 seconds; James Phafler, victor over Barch in one minute 25 seconds, and Bob McDonough, who threw Lowery in two minutes 40 seconds.

Jack Swartz' victory was the most impressive as it was the first defeat suffered by his foe in two years of competition. Summary.

35-pounds — Defenbaugh(C), threw Fisher, (M): 1 minute, 20 seconds.
105-pounds—McDonough, (M) threw Lowery, (C); 2 minutes, 40 seconds.
115-pounds — James Pfahler (M), threw Barch, (C); 1 minute, 25 seconds.
125-pounds—Hess, (C), threw Gordon (M); 4 minutes 10 seconds.
135-pounds—Otto, (C), threw Tambureno, (M); 2 minutes, 5 seconds.
145-pounds—Young, (M) and Martin (C), drew. (Two overtimes.)
155-pounds—Allen, (C), threw Pfahler (M); 2 minutes 50 seconds.
165-pounds — Frank Swartz, (M), threw Stevens (C), 4 minutes 13 seconds.
185-pounds—Jack Swartz, (M), threw McCormick, (C); 1 minute, 5 seconds.

Theater Manager's Score of 170 Withstands Bombardment in Final Week-End.

By OSCAR RUHL

RALPH SHAFFER'S 170 total withstood the bombardment in the final week-end of The News-Journal Individual Sweepstakes.

Shaffer, manager of the new Park theater, rolled his gigantic score while bowling on the Mansfield Theater league shift Thursday night at the Meder Recreation alleys, and his lead was not seriously endangered Saturday or Sunday.

His First Tournament.

The $25 championship prize represents the first money Shaffer ever won in a bowling tournament. The sweepstakes also marks the first competition outside of league bowling for Shaffer, who took up the game only a few months ago.

Shaffer boasts a 120 average in the theater employes' league, and rolled a grand total of 650 to average a fraction less than 163 pins for the four games in The News-Journal tournament.

Ed Norris, who rolled a 162 score on the first week-end of the tournament, finished second, with William Hahn, 141, a close third. Other bowlers who finished in the money were Charles Brissel, 117; Charles Berry, 117; Buel Adams, 115; Harold Moore, 115; Robert Garbosky, 110; Horace Fracis, 94, and Cecil Burdett, 91.

The highest total accumulated by any participant was an 817 by Jimmy Weems, but, unfortunately, his splendid series went for naught. Weems, with a 182 average, compiled an 89 tournament score to finish in 11th place, just out of the prize money.

Hahn, who bowls in the Westinghouse league, set the pace over in the final week-end to finish in third place with his 141. Carrying a 130 average, Hahn blasted the uprights for a fancy 222 score in his last game to assure himself of a place among the leaders.

Brissel, another Westinghouse bowler, who, incidentally, bowled on the shift with Hahn, sports a 106 average, and his big score was a 163, rolled in the first game.

Berry, who finished in a tie with Brissel for fourth place, climaxed his series with a big 199 to extend his total over his 148 average.

Adams, with a 140 average, shot middle games of 196 and 188 to enable him to tie Moore, who bowled a week ago, for sixth place. Garbosky, who has a 155 average in the Mansfield Tire league, started with a 192 and closed with a 208 to assemble a 110.

Prizes Ready Wednesday.

The amount of prize money won by the bowlers trailing Shaffer will be determined on a percentage basis. The prize money may be obtained at the Meder alleys Wednesday.

Evelyn Jocha won the women's championship in the tournament a week ago when she accumulated an even 200 pins over her average.

The tournament was the first of this type ever attempted in Mansfield. Tournament prizes were determined by the number of pins the contestants rolled over their averages.

OFFICE CAFE PINSTERS LOSE TO SHELBY TEAMS

The Office Cafe men and women teams were defeated in special matches at the Ferguson alleys in Shelby Sunday. The men's team bowed to the Cartore Service club, 2963 to 2577, Leemaster, Bringman and Hanrahan shooting 600's for the Shelby quintet, and the feminine keglers were defeated by a Shelby women's team, 2127 to 2091.

VINES NARROWS GAP

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—The gap between Ellsworth Vines and Don Budge in their cross-country pro tennis series was narrower today. Vines blasted out a four set 6-2, 6-8, 7-5, 6-2 victory over his red-haired rival before a crowd of 9,000 last night and it was his tenth win the twenty-seven matches

CITY LEAGUE QUINTS OPEN FINAL ROUND TONIGHT

THWARTED in their fight for title honors in the two previous rounds, Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds and the Elks Lodge quintet will attempt to get off to a flying start in the third and final round of play in the City Class A league at Mansfield high gymnasium tonight.

Both clubs will be fighting to register victories in their desperate efforts to share the third round championship and win a place in the playoffs for the City league crown at the end of the current season.

The Hi-Speeds tackle the defending championship Yuncker Sports in the opening contest at 7:30 p. m. while the Elks face the Westinghouse Electrics in the second affair.

Whether they posses enough power to come through with wins is a question, but both have added strength in an effort to accomplish the feats.

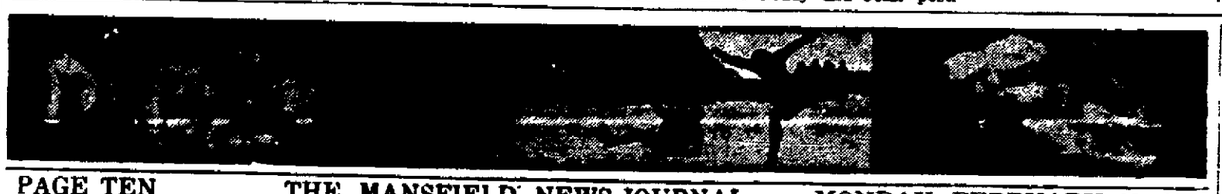
Pilots Jerry King and Herrick have been busy signing new players, and if they live up to expectations, the teams may make it interesting for their rivals.

The Elks have secured the services of Gervis Brady and John McLean, and King hopes they will be the answer to his search for scoring power. Brady, late of Mt. Union, all-conference center for two years, and all-Ohio in 1934, will replace Farrell at center. Farrell will return to his favorite forward post. McLean, a former Ohio university basketballer, will see service at the other forward post.

In the Hi-Speeds lineup will be Beanie Berens, of Marion. He will take over the center post, and the former Ohio University star, who was named on the all-Ohio team several years ago, is expected to be the main cog of the Hi-Speeds attack.

Berens takes over the center berth vacated by George Nana. An illness is expected to keep Nana on the sidelines for the balance of the regular season.

Herrick's combine faces a difficult assignment in this evening's initial tussle, for it clashes with a team which will be bounding back from its first setback in 15 league encounters. The Sports suffered their lone defeat at the hands of the Westies in the final game of the second round.



Golden Gloves Champ to Meet Bolden on Friendly House Card

By CHARLES MARTIN

SOME of the finest simon-pure boxing talent in Northern Ohio will climb into the ring before Mansfield fight fans Tuesday night when the Friendly House presents its annual indoor A. A. U. boxing show.

And, judging from the list of pairings released today by Mike Wentz, everyone of the 12 bouts should more than provide its share of thrills. The card, which gets underway at 8:15 p. m., will also include a battle royal between settlement youngsters.

Heading the list of matches is a battle between Melvin McKinley, 118, of Ashland, and James Bolden, 120-pound simon-pure mitt-ster of the Friendly House.

Although McKinley, who recently won the Novice division bantam-weight championship in the Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament, will enter the ring a favorite, Co-Matchers John Villella and Wentz think young Bolden, formerly of Akron, can give the Ashland flash a test.

Not much is known concerning Bolden's past record, but 'Bus' Doehla, who has been training a number of promising boxers at the settlement, is impressed with the colored boy's ability to throw leather.

Another bout that promises to provide its share of action tosses together little Frankie Dolce of Crestline and Harold Carpenter of Marion.

Dolce, slender, dark-haired youth, who possesses a lightning-fast left, made his Mansfield debut on an amateur card last spring, and his splendid boxing had the fans yelping excitedly.

Two of the outstanding featherweights in this section of the country will come to blows in another three-heat affair. The bout will see Ernie McKinley of Ashland, Melvin's brother, and Art Kolbe of Fremont, clashing, in a session that promises to be anything but dull.

Ernie, a clever boxer, who packs dynamite in either fist, faces a worthy opponent in Koble. The latter won the Fremont Golden Gloves tournament featherweight tilt, and finished as runner-up in the Toledo tourney. Ernie is the North Central Ohio titleholder.

Three other Friendly House boys will be out to uphold the Mansfield colors against out-of-town boxers.

They are Amico Carmel, 133, Paul Carbette, 112, and Jack Swartz, 175. Carmel is slated to face a Marion youth, who has not been identified.

Carbetta, N. C. O. champion will strut his stuff against Eddie Tally, 113, of Crestline, while Swartz meets Bob Montel of Bucyrus.

A Wooster youth, 1938 welterweight champion of the Akron Golden Gloves tourney, will make his first appearance before Mansfield fans. He is Joe Joyce and he engages Al Burton, 155, of Fremont, who last season won the Golden Gloves crown at Fremont.

Other matches on the card toss Al Tucker, 118, Fremont, against Tom Sahara, 120, Buckrus; Paul Mollenkoph, 118, Bucyrus, against Sam Walker, 118, Crestline; Ray Howman, 133, Ashland, against Taylor Still, 135, Mt. Vernon; Sidney Trent, 126, Fremont, against Ed Barciz, Bucyrus; and Frankie Parker, 147, Ashland, against James Slaughter, 147, Bucyrus.

Beauford Glover and Phil Gannni, both of Crestline, were to appear on the card, but withdrew their entries.

John Eichinger of Mansfield will be the third man in the ring. Fans are urged today by Wentz to secure tickets at the Friendly House.

Liederkranz Club Loses to Lorain

The Liederkranz club dropped three decisions to the Green Rivers of Lorain in an N.C.O. Traveling league match at Lorain Sunday. The Lorain keglers rolled a 3026 total to a 2714 for the Mansfield club, which was led by Harold Selby's 642 and Bill Donnellan's 602. The winners defeated games of 1014 and 1038.

MOORE'S 600 SETS PACE AS TAPPAN STOVES WIN

Harold Moore collected an even 600 total to lead the Tappan Stoves to a 2632 to 2294 victory over the Ferguson Recreation team of Shelby at the Meder alleys Sunday. A poor 157 score in the last game cost Moore a chance for a bigger series.

Sohioans Walloped On Marion Court

Held scoreless in the first period, the Blue Goose Sohioans bowed to Ralph's Snappy Service team, 53 to 28, on the Marion armory court Sunday. Kenny Lockhart scored 16 points, but the Sohioans were never serious threats, trailing 25 to 5 at the half.

Next Sunday the Sohians return to Marion to meet Bradley's Clothiers, who lost to Marysville, 52 to 49, Sunday.

Stubborn Pin Robs Grohol of 300 Game

Moose Star Gets 279 Score, 20 Strikes Out of 21.

Pete Grohol was denied a place in bowling's hall of fame at the Meder alleys over the week-end by a stubborn No. 7 pin.

Failure of the maple on the left corner to drop what on what appeared to be a perfect hit in the fifth frame while bowling with the Moose No. 1 team in a lodge traveling league match cost the miner-alite wielder a perfect game.

Spare Stops String.

Grohol started out with four strikes in a row. The "seven pin" stopped the string. Then he pushed his next seven balls into the 1-3 pocket for strikes and a 279 game.

In the three games, Grohol marked up 20 strikes out of a possible 21, the No. 7 stick marring one of the most sensational bowling stunts of the year on the Mansfield alleys.

Grohol finished his first game with four strikes in a row, added four more before the spare in the middle tilt and then finished with seven perfect hits.

He started his final game with five straight strikes before running into a split.

Grohol counted a 205 in his opening game and closed with a 243 to register a spectacular 727 total, which featured the Moose team's pair of victories over Barberton.

Features 1069 Game.

Jimmy Weemz contributed a 616 total to the big 2917 series, which was topped by a 1069 middle game. In addition to Grohol's 279 in the second game, Hal Hipp came through with a 255.

Madison Wins County Crown

Victory Over Bellville Clinches Cage Title; Ontario Upsets Butler, Lucas Nips Lexington.

RICHLAND county league teams will merely play out the string this week.

The championship of the circuit was decided in favor of the Madison Rams Saturday night when they walloped Bellville, 35 to 10. Butler had a chance to carry the race to the final night of play, but bowed to Ontarion, 38 to 31.

Butler's defeat enabled Lucas to tie Coach Bob Burgett's men for second place on the Saturday victory scored over Lexington.

Madison, which now holds an unbeatable two-game lead, closes its regular season on the home court against Butler Friday night, while Lexington goes to Bellville and Ontario to Union.

The other game on this final week's program pits Lucas against Union on the Indians' hardwood Saturday night.

Scores Decisive Win.

Madison took no chances of leaving the county title slip away Saturday on the Bellville floor.

COUNTY LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Madison	9	2	.818
Butler	7	4	.636
Lucas	7	4	.636
Lexington	5	6	.454
Ontario	5	6	.454
Union	3	7	.300
Bellville	2	9	.181

Coach Al Fendrick's Rames registered their most decisive victory of the season.

The Rams permitted only two field goals as they rolled with ease over the Bluejays, and yielded only three points in the final half.

Madison stepped into a 10 to 4 lead in the opening period, extended its advantage to 16 to 7 at the intermission and sported a one-sided 26 to 8 lead at the end of the third frame.

Fendrick used 13 players as the Rams registered their ninth victory in 11 county league games, and only three failed to score at least one point. Bill Wilkins was high with six points.

The Madison reserves hung up their 10th straight victory as they took the Bellville seconds into camp by a 20 to 9 count in the preliminary game.

Two Over Butler.

Ontario made it two straight over Butler in their meeting on the Warriors' hardwood Saturday. The Warriors, incidentally, were the team which broke the Bulldogs' seven-game winning streak early in the season.

Led by Henry Hager and Albert Sauer, a pair of juniors, Coach Orv Kibler's hoopsters jumped into a lead in the first period that it never yielded.

Leading 11 to 4 at the end of the opening quarter, the Ontario cagers extended their lead in the next period to hold a 21 to 13 edge at the half. Butler reduced the lead slightly in the third period, but was outscored again in the fourth stanza.

Ontario produced its best basketball of the season in turning back the Butlerites. But due to a poor start, the best the 1938 champions can do in the race is finish in fourth place.

Henry Hager tallied 16 points to lead Ontario. Miller and Boales led the losers with eight points apiece. The preliminarg game was taken by Butler by a 14 to 8 count.

Lucas Given Scare.

Although leading 23 to 12 at the half, the rangy Lucas quintet was given a scare by Lexington in the final periods of their tussle on the Minutemen's court, but won by a 37 to 35 count.

Trailing 10 to 6 at the finish of the openion period, 23 to 12 at the half and 32 to 21 going into the fourth frame, Coach Johnny Reece's Minutemen spurted to climb within two points of the lead in the final minute.

Lexington outscored Lucas, 14 to 5, in the fourth period rally which nearly netted a victory.

Tom Greulich was the outstanding offensive performer for the Lucas club with 20 points, scoring e

Rams Figure In Grid Deals

Obtain Two New Players in Trades at Meeting.

CHICAGO—(INS)—The National Pro Football league owners and coaches closed their trading mart and business meeting today and started for home after a last minute rush of activity.

In the final flurry all but three teams in the league completed trades and several other deals were left on the fire to brew awhile.

Cleveland's new coach, Dutch Clark was the busiest of the bunch obtaining center Gene Moore, former Colorado captain from Brooklyn for Vic Markov, ex-Washington tackle. He likewise sent Carl Littlefield, Washington State fullback to the Giants for Jack Hadden, husky Arkansas tackle.

Dick Zoll of Indiana, Cleveland's regular tackle for two years went to Green Bay for Dick Yerby, an end from Oregon whom the Packers drew in the draft. And to top things off Clark was said to have made dickers with the Chicago Bears and Philadelphia.

Coach Gus Henderson of Detroit got an agreement from Pittsburgh to substitute halfback Dick Nardi of Ohio State instead of Huffman and Gutowsky who had been offered the Pirates in return for the draft rights on Billy Patterson of Baylor, although the latter will not enter the pro game. The Pirates won the argument that the trade was not contingent on Patterson's playing.

LEAN ARKANSAS PRO WINS TEXAS OPEN TITLE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — Lean E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, an amazing new character in the professionals' winter golf swing, caressed some $3,600 in prize money today. Yesterday he won the Texas open championship after dipping 13 strokes below par to score a spectacular 271 for 72 holes and beat the fastest field of the tour.

PAINFUL LESSON

Boy, 12, Learns About Firearms During Geography Lesson.

CHICAGO—(AP)—John Gospodarek, 12, seventh grade pupil at Assumption parochial school, learned about firearms during his geography lesson.

Flustered when his teacher unexpectedly called upon him to recite, John dropped a .38 calibre pistol on the floor. It discharged, sending a bullet into his ankle and terrifying his classmates.

John said he had borrowed the gun from his uncle—while uncle wasn't looking.

CHAPTER XXIV

Kurt did not notice the complete relief in the old man's face because the dictatorial Miss Rowland was not going to be mistress of this apartment and of him, Jaffers.

He felt so bold that when he passed the desk that had Gina's photograph on it, he asked, "Shall I burn it, sir?"

Kurt laughed. "You sly fox." Then he said, "I don't care what you do with it. It can stay there and I won't even see it."

Jaffers took the photograph with him, anticipating solitary pleasure in its destruction.

Kurt sat quietly all through that long evening Alix . . . His little friend . . . Gina had meant to belittle her when she had called her that. Now Gina was gone out of his life. Strange that the roots of that love had been pulled up without pain or regret. And now, now he knew that what he had felt for Alix—what had been smothered and stifled—was free to grow. There was no more Gina! There was all . . . Alix!

Their first evening along together, his kiss, that night in New York when he had been almost in love with her, their meetings since, and her saying, "No, not that way, Kurt," when he had asked her rudely if she cared. Star dust in her eyes . . . He had not seen it since. He had not noticed since! He thought, "The memory of Alix and the few times we've been together and especially that night in New York will in time supercede every memory I have of Gina until I'll wonder if I ever knew Gina Rowland, the actress."

He reached for the telephone. Alix was alone in Ivy House tonight! But he replaced it, thinking, "She'll think I've come to her on the rebound. I'll never persuade her that it's she, not Gina, I want now. What have I done to deserve her love? What? I was in New York when her brother ran away. She needed me then. She didn't know what had happened to him. Since then every time she's seen me I've been with Gina. She said she didn't care that way. I had my chance with her and lost it and it's Eddie who has stood by her in everything. He deserves her and I don't. And Alix gives to those who deserve."

He had his car by ten o'clock the next morning and left. He didn't know where he was going. It didn't matter For a year and now for several months he had left the city at every opportunity to go to New York to Gina. Today he left the city slowly and reluctantly. Glancing through the mirror at the tallest building, seeing it become less distinct mile after mile, he thought, "None of them made mistakes. Not Gina. She knew what she wanted. Money. And she got it. I gave it to her, gladly, to be rid of her. And Jerry made no mistake. He wanted revenge and he got that. Not Bernice or Don or Nancy or Tod. Not Eddie. Certainly not Alix. Not Eddie because he's wanted Alix all the time and he's worked for her. No. I'm the one who blundered! Now I want Alix and I'll never have her!"

When Eddie Barrett came back from Chicago, he went directly to Ivy House and found Alix on the terrace in the moonlight.

"I knew it was you," she said. "I'd know that missing motor anywhere. I'm awfully glad to see you, Eddie. This house is so big and quiet."

"I missed the big show. I would. You look. . . ."

She nodded and smiled. "From Paris—from Bernice. Yes, everything is different, Eddie."

"But you're the same. I know you'd be. This is some place, isn't it? Nancy's annual party was the big event of my boyhood. Mrs. Bishop told me where to find you. You're her favorite heroine now. She doesn't have to look out the window for news. You're her news."

"Probably boring the other people in the house to death. But that's enough for me. How is your mother? How is Chicago?"

He looked at her soberly. "It isn't enough about you."

She laughed quietly. "Well, it's a very lazy life here, Eddie. I could get up at eleven after breakfasting in bed. But I wake up promptly at seven-thirty. It's a habit. I swim all by myself in the pool and write to Bernice and Nancy. That's all. Now tell me about Chicago."

The seriousness of his voice made her look at his intently.

"I flew back expecting to find you at Mrs. Bishops. Instead I find you in the lap of luxury. And I thought I had big news for you." He frowned in the flame of a match. "I got a new job in Chicago that's going to pay me twice the salary I was getting here. It was just a lucky break and there's a big future in it."

Alix said, "That's wonderful."

"Thanks. I wonder if it is." He looked at her steadily. "If you'd been at Mrs. Bishop's and still out of work, I think . . . well, I thought maybe you'd go back to Chicago with me in September. I don't get the job until then. But this makes it different. I'm not doing you any favor by asking you to marry me. I'm not helping you out any or making things easier for you. You've got everything."

He looked down at the cigarette burning between his fingers. "I'm crazy, I guess. But I'm glad you got this break. Let's forget it."

"You always say that and you know I can't forget. And I understand, Eddie. But all this has nothing to do with the way I feel inside. You can live in a beautiful house and wear dresses from Paris but inside you don't change. What I thought and felt while I was living in that horrible room, I think and feel now. My devotion to you and . . . and my love for Kurt."

"Always. And I haven't seen him or heard from him since the day of the wedding." She smiled. "Bernice and Don have me on their hands I'm afraid. But thank you again, Eddie."

He chuckled. "What does this make—my sixth or seventh proposal? I've lost count." He grinned boyishly. "But I'm an optimistic guy. Maybe by September you'll change your mind, go to Chicago and have a place of your own."

"I miss not being busy," she said. "It's difficult to break the habit of doing everything for oneself. And from the very first I've felt that this was only borrowed luxury. Not mine at all. Bernice would be hurt if she knew I felt like that. Would you like to see the house?"

"Yeah. If we'll make a slightly longer stop in the kitchen. I skipped dinner to hurry out here."

When Don and Bernice returned from France, Ivy House became again the place of hospitality for which it had once been famous. Every day people came to swim in the pool and on weekends every guest room was occupied. Nancy and Tod returned from New England, settled in the cottage, and Tod went to the office with Don. Still there was no word from Kurt, no announcement of his marriage to Gina.

Alix was swept along with the tide of gayety, realizing that many of the parties as well as many of the unusually attractive men invited were for

One day as she sat beside the swimming pool wearing a white rubber suit she saw a bronzed head come out of the water and smile at her.

"Have we been introduced?" he asked. "Or aren't introductions necessary? You're Alix and I'm Jay Harvey."

Alix smiled. "I'm very glad to know you. I haven't see you around before. And I'm supposed to be the keeper of the pool. Bernice is keeper of the drawing-room. Were you invited?"

"I came back on the same boat with her and Don from France. She's a honey. You're a honey, too. I just came down from New York and I think I'm going to like it."

He came out of the water, a tall, thin, bronzed young man and sat on the edge of pool beside her. "You may not know it yet but you're going to the club with me tonight. It seems," he flashed a charming smile, "that I have been appointed to make you forget somebody. Or maybe I shouldn't have mentioned that. Anyway, I'm very good at making girls forget."

Cotton Willing to Face Guldahl in Golf Series.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Henry Cotton, former British open champion, was agreeable today to meeting U. S. open champion Ralph Guldahl in a 72-hole golf match—provided Guldahl comes to England.

Recalling that Guldahl had complained about the cold over here, Cotton said "if the proper conditions can be 'arranged' for him and he is satisfied with a course, I'm willing to fulfill his desire to play me.

"There's one thing I hope. I hope that in his future visits he gets a better impression of British players and public than he seems to have gotten in 1937."

TWO WORLD'S RECORDS FALL IN INDOOR MEETS

NEW YORK — (AP) — After a week-end which saw plenty of action and two new world's indoor records, Cornelius Warmerdam's pole vault of 14 feet 6 1-8 inches at Boston, and Barney Ewell's 5.1 seconds 50 yards at Philadelphia, the track world turned toward the second major Metropolitan meet today. This is the New York Athletic club's 70th anniversary indoor meet at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The results of the week-end's three meets, the Penn A. C. and 7th regiment affairs Friday night and the Boston A. A. meeting Saturday, show that the athletes have hit top form. There is a good chance of a wholesale attack on the records.

SOUTHPAW AL MILNAR WORKS ON 'SCREWBALL'

CLEVELAND — (AP)—Southpaw Al Milnar of the Cleveland Indians' hurling staff disclosed today that he was at work on a "screwball" for use during the coming American league season.

"I wasn't getting into many games last year," said Milnar, "so I started to make daily trips to the bull-pen. Coach Johnny Bassler suggested that I try to master the screwball. I went to work."

Grooms Pair For 'Hot' Sack

McKechnie Plans to Use Joost and English.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bill Terry wasn't telling any secrets the other day when he put his finger on the Cincinnati Reds' infield as the reason the Rhinelanders' failed to take the 1938 National league pennant.

Dr. Will McKechnie, who can spot such things as well as the next fellow, knew it all the time, and already is taking steps to cure the ailment.

First off, he's working on his third-base problem. For the last four years, the Reds have strung along with Lew Riggs at the hot corner. Lew is one of those fellows who's forever giving promise of blossoming out into a fine, if not great, ballplayer, but who somehow never quite make the grade.

So Dr. Will is seriously considering giveing a couple of youngsters—Ed Joost, up from Kansas City, and Chuck English, out of Los Angeles—a crack at it English, particularly, is rated a chance, and the powers that be at the head of the Reds say that although he is better known as a second baseman, he can be moved over to third If neither of these produce, McKechnie can try Frenchy Bordagary, a transfer from the Cardinals, who can add speed to any man's ball club.

Over at the second base-shortstop combination, there's another headache for McKechnie. The doings of Billy Myers and Lonnie Frey weren't altogether to the king's taste last summer. He is thinking of making changes there too, but he's not so set on it as at third.

Of course, there's no difficulty at first base where Buck McCormick was the loop's leading rookie in '38.

LOSES ANOTHER PLAYER

DAYTON — (AP) — University of Dayton officials announced today they had advised Coleman McDonough, North Braddock, Pa., football halfback, to withdraw from school because of scholastic difficulties. He was the seventh player lost to the football team in two days because of grades.

WESLEYAN SIGNS B-W

DELAWARE — (U.P.) — Baldwin-Wallace will replace Marshall on Ohio Wesleyan's 1939 football schedule, Athletic Director George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan said today. Baldwin-Wallace will play at Delaware, Nov. 25.

COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

To quickly relieve distress—rub soothing, warming Musterole on your chest, throat and back.

Musterole is NOT "just a salve." It's a "counter-irritant" containing good old-fashioned remedies for distress of colds—oil of mustard, menthol, camphor and other helpful ingredients.

That's why it gets such fine results—better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Musterole penetrates the surface skin, stimulates, warms and soothes and quickly helps to relieve local congestion and pain. Used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. In 3 strengths: Regular, Children's (Mild) and Extra Strong. 40¢.

"Freezin' humans is easy-but you can't freeze the life out of Blue Sunoco-even at 54 below!"

"...out at the lumber camp—by workin' hard—we can keep goin' until it gets down around forty-five below. Then it's too cold, so we quit. But it's different with Blue Sunoco. I've been usin' it for years. Never had any trouble at all gettin' started. Last winter I left my car standin' out day and night and one time the thermometer dropped to 54 below. But the next morning, when I stepped on the starter—she spun over easy—thanks to Sunoco Winter Oil—and right off Blue Sunoco snapped her into action. I'm tellin' you, I wouldn't use anything else—and feel safe!"

PAM—A Date with David! By A. W. Brewerton

MY LITTLE ASSISTANT! —AND YOU WERE THAT OVER THERE, TOO, PAM! WHEN THINGS LOOKED BLACKEST AND I WAS TEMPTED TO FEEL DISCOURAGED, IT WAS THE THOUGHT OF YOU THAT BUOYED ME UP — KEPT ME GOING!
DAVID!
---THOUGH I COULDN'T HEAR FROM YOU, I COULD PICTURE YOU IN MY THOUGHTS, AND IT WAS YOUR SWEET FACE THAT CHEERED ME ON — MADE ME DETERMINED TO DO THE JOB — TO GET BACK AGAIN TO YOU — AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE!
YOU'RE SWEET, DAVID — AND HOW I'VE MISSED YOU!
BUT HERE — ENOUGH ABOUT ME! —WHAT I WANT IS TO HEAR ABOUT YOU — WHAT YOU'VE BEEN DOING AND — BY THE WAY, IT WAS SOME SURPRISE FINDING YOU AT KEITH PAIGE'S — TELL ME, PAM, WHEN DID YOU START MINGLING WITH SUCH WEALTHY PEOPLE?
OH — I DON'T DO THAT, DAVID —
---AT LEAST, NOT MUCH! MR. PAIGE HAS BEEN SIMPLY GRAND TO ME AND TAKEN ME MANY PLACES!
KEITH PAIGE! WELL, WELL
HE — HE'S BEEN A — WONDERFUL FRIEND, DAVID!
PAM LOOKED RATHER SELF-CONSCIOUS, AND IT SET DAVID TO WONDERING!

NOTICE!

Because, through no fault of its own, The News-Journal has been printing the comic strip "Tailspin Tommy" ahead of the regular release dates, appearance of the feature has been temporarily suspended.

However, the comic strip has not been discontinued.

It will reappear with no interruption in the continuity of the story on Saturday, Feb. 25, in the week-end green tabloid, in which it will appear thereafter.

The new and popular strip, "Blondie," now appears on this page daily.

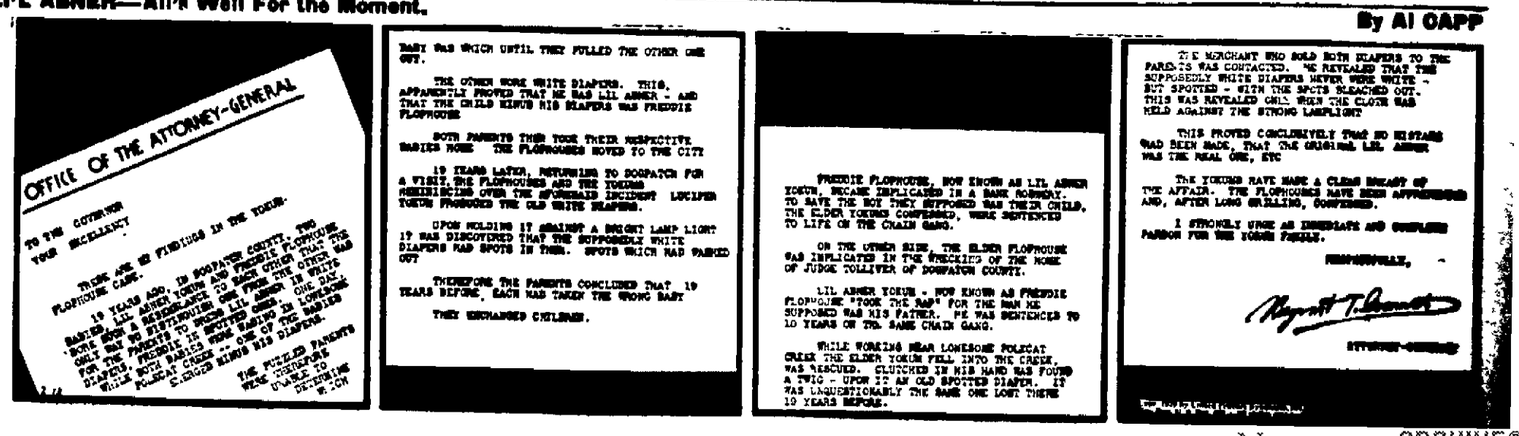
LI'L ABNER—All's Well For the Moment. By Al Capp



OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL
TO THE GOVERNOR YOUR EXCELLENCY
THERE ARE NO FINDINGS IN THE YOKUM-FLOPHOUSE CASE.
19 YEARS AGO, IN DOGPATCH COUNTY, TWO BABIES WERE BORN — ONE FROM THE ELDER FLOPHOUSE, THE OTHER FROM A RESPECTABLE YOKUM FAMILY. ONE BABY HAD A BIRTHMARK — THE OTHER DID NOT. THE PARENTS OF THE BIRTHMARKED BABY FOR THE PURPOSE OF SPECIFICATION, NAMED THEIR CHILD LIL ABNER. ONE DAY, WHILE BOTH BABIES WERE LYING IN LONESOME POLECAT CREEK — ONE OF THE BABIES SLANGED BOTH OF THEIR BIB DIAPERS.
THE PUZZLED PARENTS WERE CONFRONTED WITH THE UNABLE TO DETERMINE WHICH BABY WAS WHICH UNTIL THEY PULLED THE OTHER ONE OUT.
THE OTHER WORE WHITE DIAPERS. THIS, APPARENTLY PROVED THAT HE WAS LIL ABNER — AND THAT THE CHILD WHOSE BIB DIAPERS WAS FREDDIE FLOPHOUSE.
BOTH PARENTS THEN TOOK THEIR RESPECTIVE BABIES HOME. THE FLOPHOUSES MOVED TO THE CITY.
19 YEARS LATER, RETURNING TO DOGPATCH FOR A VISIT, THE FLOPHOUSES AND THE YOKUMS REMINISCING OVER THE AFOREMAID INCIDENT. LUCIFER YOKUM PRODUCED THE OLD WHITE DIAPERS.
UPON HOLDING IT AGAINST A BRIGHT LAMP LIGHT IT WAS DISCOVERED THAT THE SUPPOSEDLY WHITE DIAPERS HAD SPOTS IN THEM. SPOTS WHICH HAD FADED OUT.
THEREFORE THE PARENTS CONCLUDED THAT 19 YEARS BEFORE, EACH HAD TAKEN THE WRONG BABY.
THEY EXCHANGED CHILDREN.
FREDDIE FLOPHOUSE, NOW KNOWN AS LIL ABNER YOKUM, BECAME IMPLICATED IN A BANK ROBBERY. TO SAVE THE BOY THEY SUPPOSED WAS THEIR CHILD, THE ELDER YOKUMS CONFESSED, WERE SENTENCED TO LIFE ON THE CHAIN GANG.
ON THE OTHER SIDE, THE ELDER FLOPHOUSE WAS IMPLICATED IN THE WRECKING OF THE HOME OF JUDGE TOLLIVER OF DOGPATCH COUNTY.
LIL ABNER YOKUM — NOW KNOWN AS FREDDIE FLOPHOUSE "TOOK THE RAP" FOR THE MAN HE SUPPOSED WAS HIS FATHER. HE WAS SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS ON THE SAME CHAIN GANG.
WHILE WORKING NEAR LONESOME POLECAT CREEK THE ELDER YOKUM FELL INTO THE CREEK, WAS RESCUED. CLUTCHED IN HIS HAND WAS FOUND A TWIG — UPON IT AN OLD SPOTTED DIAPER. IT WAS UNQUESTIONABLY THE SAME ONE LOST THERE 19 YEARS BEFORE.
THE MERCHANT WHO SOLD BOTH DIAPERS TO THE PARENTS WAS CONTACTED. HE REVEALED THAT THE SUPPOSEDLY WHITE DIAPERS NEVER WERE WHITE — BUT SPOTTED — WITH THE SPOTS BLEACHED OUT. THIS WAS REVEALED ONLY WHEN THE CLOTH WAS HELD AGAINST THE STRONG LAMPLIGHT.
THIS PROVED CONCLUSIVELY THAT NO MISTAKE HAD BEEN MADE, THAT THE ORIGINAL LIL ABNER WAS THE REAL ONE, ETC.
THE YOKUMS HAVE MADE A CLEAN BREAST OF THE AFFAIR. THE FLOPHOUSES HAVE BEEN APPREHENDED AND, AFTER LONG GRILLING, CONFESSED.
I STRONGLY URGE AN IMMEDIATE AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON FOR THE YOKUM FAMILY.

SEVEN HURT IN AREA TRAFFIC

2 Mansfielders Among Week-End Accident Victims; 5 Lose Lives in State.

in which they were riding with Omar B. Kadir, 54, of Galion, collided with another car on route 61, three miles south of Crestline.

C. B. Tieben, state highway patrolman, said Kadir was driving on the wrong side of the road when his car struck the rear of a machine driven by Robert Payne, 18, of Shelby. Kadir's car then went over an embankment and into a creek, Tieben said. Kadir, who was not hurt, is held by Crestline police for questioning. Payne and two other occupants of his car also escaped injury.

George Rose, 25, a transient, suffered minor injuries at 7:50 p. m. Sunday when he was hit by a car driven by Miss Algean Groah, 18, of Bedford, on route 42 just north of Jonnsville. Miss Groah told state highway patrolmen she was blinded by the lights of an on-coming car and did not see Rose. Her car turned over when she swerved to avoid hitting him.

When their small coupe failed to take an "S" curve and struck a bridge on route 23 seven miles north of Marion, Walter Meninger, 27, the driver, was killed instantly; Mary Navin, 26, was fatally injured, dying later in a hospital, and two other persons were badly hurt.

Run down by an auto in Westerville on Jan. 31, Rev. Peter L. Mark, 90, retired Methodist minister and a native of Washington C. H., died of injuries in a hospital.

Two Akron boys were drowned in a sledding accident and traffic accidents took at least eight lives in Ohio over the week-end.

William Oldham, jr., 12, and Frank H. Pouncey, jr., 14, of Lakemore, Akron suburb, were drowned when their home-made ice boat went through the ice on Springfield lake. They had rigged a tin sail on their sled.

BURIED TODAY

Funeral For John S. Hines, 64, Held at Ganges.

GANGES — Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Ganges Reformed church for John Elmer Hines, 64, who died Saturday at his home two miles southeast of here following a brief illness. Rev. Frank Zartman officiated and burial was in the Ganges cemetery.

Mr. Hines was born March 12, 1874, in Shelby, and was a member of Junior Order United American Mechanics lodge No. 64 at Shelby, and the Ganges Reformed church. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Victor Light and Mrs. William Reynolds both of Ganges.

LOANS

of more than $100 at lower rates

No co-signers or endorsers

No embarrassment or delay

● When you borrow, you should know these facts about small loan rates. The Small Loan Law of this state permits a certain maximum rate to be charged for a loan. On all loans of more than $100 Household Finance does not charge the full rate!

Check these savings

Suppose you need $140. At the lawful maximum rate the cost of your loan for 30 days is $4.20. At Household's lower rates the charge is $3.80—a saving of 40c. On a loan of $200 the cost for 30 days at the lawful maximum rate is $6.00. At Household's rates the charge is $5.00—a saving of $1.00. (Thirty day loans are used as examples for convenience. Loans for longer terms naturally cost less per month.)

You may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300. You need no stocks, bonds or other bankable security. No one need sign with you (married couples sign together). You get your loan without delay and without embarrassment to you.

Don't Get a Loan until you read these features of the Household Finance Loan Plan

1. Anyone may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300 on furniture, car or note.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers. No salary or wage assignment required.
3. Quick action. No tedious routine.
4. Small monthly payments. Example: $8.00 first month, decreasing each month to $5.15 last month. repays a $100 loan in 20 months, including charges, provided principal is repaid as agreed.
5. Household Finance's monthly charge is less than the lawful maximum on all loans above $100.
6. Loan may be repaid ahead of schedule to reduce the cost. Charge is made on unpaid balance only.
7. No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. Private consultation routine.

structural theme, and the elephant, mammoth beast of pagentry, is the predominating decorative note. There's color, 19 shades of it, from beige fawn to midnight blue; and all night there'll not be a single light source visible to the eye.

A $1,500,000 horticultural display—4,000 trees, 70,000 shrubs, millions of flowers—and a chain of colorful lagoons add to the superspectacle.

Six distinct Indian civilizations; the Temple of Religion, non-sectarian, with a great Tower of Peace; a Cavalcade of the Golden West; an outdoor pageant of Oregon wildlife, with salmon climbing miniature Bonnerville dam; busy beavers being busy; Hollywood boulevard; Chinatown; mining in a model mountain, 50 feet high; a 5-minute trip from the depths of the sea to a mountain crag; a history-making collection of paintings—Old Masters from the Louvre and Italy; rodeos, harvest and flower festivals; jumping frog contests; fishing derbies; snow carnivals—and they're all under one 400-acre roof cloudless Pacific sky, folks.

"Lookee, Lookee!"

And 200 American industries give you group demonstrations of food, drink, transportation, science, manufacture, and home building. There'll be 3,000 special events and "40 acres of Fun," all the way "from Japanese dancing girls to dizzy rides and games of skill."

But it's no fly-by-night affair. When that 400-foot-high Tower of the Sun is ashes, those two gigantic buildings that you see on the right and left—the Palace of the Fine and Liberal Arts and the Hall of Air Transportation—and that $900,000 reinforced concrete administration headquarters which you see over there will be two wonderful airplane hangars and an air terminal building. And this Treasure Island on Yerba Buena shoals will be aviation's gateway to the Pacific.

400,000 PASS BIER OF POPE IN CHILL RAIN

cilica to the bridge of St. Angelo—a distance of nearly half a mile. Some had umbrellas and raincoats, but many had no protection from the rain. Many tried to protect themselves with newspapers, but the paper soon became sodden and useless. Virtually all carried lunch packages, since they were prepared to wait four or five hours before entering the Basilica.

St. Peter's, it was announced, will be closed at noon tomorrow to allow time for preparations for the burial, which will take place about the time the Angelus rings in the early evening.

With many newlyweds among them, 500 Hungarian pilgrims arrived today. They had been planning to visit the Vatican to receive Pope Pius's benediction on the day following the anniversary of his coronation. They came, instead, to view his body and attend the second funeral mass.

The mourning faithful poured into Rome from all sections of Italy, and the government began running trains with reduced rates to facilitate pilgrimages.

Among the decisions taken at the congregation of cardinals, in accordance with tradition, was one to strike off the first coinage of the "sede vacante"—the "vacant seat," symbolic of the cardinals' authority in the interim between the death of one pope and the election of another.

Receive Prince.

The cardinals' congregation also received Prince Chigi, head of the Knights of Malta, ancient Catholic noble order, and 13 other knights. The House of Chigi plays an important role following the death of a Pope, for its members are hereditary marshals of the papacy and guardians of the conclave where the new Pope is named.

Prince Chigi read a message of condolence, and Granito Cardinal Di Belmonte, dean of the cardinal bishops, replied that the condolences of the Knights of Malta were especially appreciated.

Then in another symbolic ceremony, Mgr. Borgia presented the cardinals with the seal of the apostolic chancellery and, as customary, it was broken. A new one will be made after the election.

Again the size of the crowds resulted in disappointment, for many of the devout who wished to kiss the slipper of the dead pope found that the body was removed far back from the grillwork in front of the chapel. In former times it was the custom to project the pope's feet beyond the grillwork for that purpose.

Instead, hundreds kissed the foot of the nearby bronze statue of St. Peter, worn smooth by the lips of countless thousands.

Moreover, the crowds could see but little of the pope save his robes and an angular view of his pale features, marked by work and strain and the tortures of long illness, yet serene in death. There was barely time for a brief prayer and the line must move on.

Sealed In Three Coffins.

The actual final burial services for Pius will begin about 4 p. m. tomorrow (10 a. m. EST), but it will be around the hour of the Angelus, at 5 or 6 p. m. before the body is actually sealed in the crypt.

Within the innermost of the three coffins which will shield the pope's body will be placed a purple velvet bag containing all the different monies coined by the Vatican during his reign, also the commemorative medals, and his personal jewelry.

Beside the body will be inserted a metal tube containing an allocution extolling the pope's person and the achievements of his life.

The allocution will be delivered at the funeral by Mgr. Angelo Perugini, secretary of Latin letters of the cardinals' college.

Following the actual burial, the remaining masses will be celebrated before the symbolic "tumulus."

Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, who as Cardinal Chamberlain is virtually "acting pope" until the new election, now knows the contents of Pius's last testament, it was learned. Cardinal Pacelli broke the seal of the will Saturday before a Vatican notary, but confided the contents only to the congregation of cardinals.

Italy's Newspapers Renew Digs at France.

ROME—(U.P.)—Italian newspapers returned to their campaign against France and Great Britain today after but a brief interlude caused by the pope's death. In presumable confirmation of Premier Benito Mussolini's determination to push his campaign for realization of "Italy's aspirations," the interlude proved a brief one.

Not only editorils in the controlled newspapers but dispatches from European capitals showed distrust and bitterness particularly as the result of British and French negotiations with the Spanish Nationalists.

The democratic governments were suspected of ulterior motives in their approaches to the Nationalists after their long refusal to recognize them.

Says Pope Built on Rock of Truth and Peace.

"Firm but kindly, Pope Pius XI insisted on the truths that are as old as Christianity—the truths that can bring satisfaction and peace to the earth," the Rt. Rev. Mgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, said in a sermon Sunday morning in which he eulogized the stricken pontiff.

"The world did not agree with many of the things that he said yet he brought enlightenment," Monsignor Goebel said. "He inspired us to hold fast to our doctrines without compromise. He built not on a sand heap but on the rock of truth and peace.

"Pope Pius came to the throne in troublesome times. He inherited the great problems that followed the World war, conditions that cause men to follow false leaders. But he did not falter, he carried out God's will in striving for peace and understanding.

"There can be no war of such world-wide significance without the consequences we have witnessed in the past 20 years. Just as discord affects your own home, so war wrecks the human family. It brings tyranny, bickering and dissatisfaction.

"The world proclaims Pope Pius as one of the greatest of all the 261 popes. We Catholic people must surely be grateful that the Vicar of Christ is honored by all people and all nations. Never in the history of the world has there been such a general concern and manifestation of good will toward the Catholic church. His was an immortal personality. His life was not circumscribed by the brief span of time on earth."

A requiem high mass for the repose of the pope's soul will be said at 8 a. m. Wednesday at St. Peter's church which has been draped in mourning since the pontiff's death. A solemn funeral mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. the same day with Monsignor Goebel as the celebrant.

Speaks At Dinner

Dean E. G. Mason above, of Ashland college and Louis Bromfield, Mansfield novelist, will be the speakers at the annual Washington-Lincoln memorial banquet to be held by the Constitution chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution at the First M. E. church at 6:30 p. m., Friday, J. Leo Hartman, president of the chapter, announced today. Arthur Boyce, Mansfield vocalist, also will be on the program. He will be accompanied by Mrs. David Ireland at the piano. Members of the Mary Washington and Jared Mansfield chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be guests at the banquet.

New Delay Seen In Benny's Trial On Smuggling Charge

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Federal authorities indicated today that the smuggling trial of comedian Jack Benny, on the calendar for tomorrow, would be postponed a week or 10 days to enable the defendant to complete a motion picture in which he is now working.

The postponement, regarded as certain, will make it unnecessary for the highly-paid radio and screen star to make a court appearance on St. Valentine's day—which will, incidentally, be his 45th birthday anniversary.

Benny was indicted Jan. 10 in connection with the same investigation which trapped his theatrical rival, George Burns; Albert N. Chaperau, international soldier of fortune, and Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a New York supreme court justice. All pleaded guilty except Benny, who is accused of smuggling $2,131 worth of diamond-studded jewelry for his wife and radio partner, Mary Livingstone.

RETIRED PASTOR DIES

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Rev. Peter L. Mark, retired Methodist Episcopal minister of nearby Westerville who died yesterday, will be buried Tuesday in Washington Court House where he was born 92 years ago.

How To Relieve Misery of Your

CHEST COLD

If you are suffering from a miserable chest cold, try this: Massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on chest and cover with warmed cloth.

VapoRub goes right to work to bring relief—two ways at once. (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice: (2) Direct to the irritated air-passages with its medicated vapors.

This poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion.

Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

SEEKS TO BAN LABOR SPYING

Senate Committee Reports on Findings in Investigation of Strike Disorders.

leads to private usurpation of public authority, corruption of public officials, oppression of large groups of citizens under the authority of the state, and perversion of representative government."

The committee, which will disband soon unless the senate grants it more funds, said the use of private police as an agency of labor policy is an attempt "to impose upon labor a selfish private interest by means of private armies."

"The utilization of organized forces of men, money, and munitions by employers against employes to frustrate their attempt at self-organization," the report continued, "results in violent struggle instead of peaceful negotiations between labor and management.

"And as violence breeds violence, the continual intimidation, by force, of self-respecting workers, proud of their heritage of freedom, is likely to rebound in the fury of the mob.

"Often the cleavage has been so wide and deep between these groups that armed struggle has resulted. Then, not only are the civil and statutory rights of workers threatened, but life and property are endangered."

Would Ban Espionage.

Discussing possible legislation, the committee said it wanted to prohibit "labor espionage and the shadowing, coercion and intimidation of workers in ordinary times and to restrict company police to company property during times of strikes."

It recommended prohibiting the employment as armed company guards of persons "who have previous criminal records showing a tendency toward violence or the dangerous use of deadly weapons."

The committee detailed its criticisms of the Harlan County Coal Operators association and the Republic Steel corporation, which operates in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Alabama, Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota and West Virginia.

A strike at Republic's Berger Manufacturing company in Canton, Ohio, in 1935 was broken, the report said, "by the brutal attacks of the Republic guards, by the activities of spies and by a back-to-work vote in which Berger employes were not allowed to participate.

"The vote was open only to employes of neighboring Republic plants," it said.

The committee criticized Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic board, for asserted discrepancies in his statements about the company's labor policies.

LETS CONTRACTS

City Board Buys 30 Cars of Sand From Purdy Company.

The city board of control today announced that it had awarded the last of more than a dozen contracts for materials and supplies to be used by the street department in its 1939 street maintenance program.

The contracts for 20 cars of concrete sand and 10 cars of mason sand were awarded to the Purdy Construction company of Mansfield, the lowest of eight bidders on both items.

Purdy bid 95 cents per cubic yard on the concrete sand and $1.25 per cubic yard on the mason sand.

Identical bids of 99 cents per yard on the concrete sand and $1.39 per yard on mason sand were submitted by seven other Mansfield firms.

LOTS OF PEOPLE

BORROW

on the Colonial Plan

TO GET

OUT OF DEBT

YES, it's possible to borrow to get out of debt. Many people do it every day. They come to Colonial, get cash to pay all their bills, reducing their debts to one obligation, with one monthly payment instead of several.

Here your car (even if not fully paid for) is good security for a loan. Or you may borrow on other personal security—and signature. If you would like smaller payments on your car or other installment accounts we can refinance your balance, reduce your payments, and provide extra cash, too.

When you buy a new or used car, tell your dealer you want to finance it on the liberal, low cost Colonial Plan.

$$$ ONE MILLION DOLLARS $$$ FOR EMPLOYED PEOPLE

Why you should borrow at COLONIAL—

1. SPEED LOANS—You can get your money in one hour—and shorter time if necessary.
2. MORE MONEY—Loans—$25.00 to $1,000.00. Our advances are liberal.
3. THRIFT LOANS—Remember, COLONIAL PLAN helps you out of debt in shorter time—with less cost to you.
4. LOW PAYMENTS—Repay as little as $4.00 monthly on each $100 borrowed—and more if you can.
5. EASY TERMS—First payment will not be due for 45 days and then small monthly payments to suit your convenience.
6. LESS COST—Reduced Rates: Cost on amounts over $100 up to $300 is one-third less. Amounts over $300 cost only 8% per annum.
7. ADDITIONAL SAVINGS—10% of the cost is refunded in cash if monthly payment is made promptly.

dowless and 105 murals decorate their exteriors. The landscaping scheme uses 102 pieces of sculpture.

With 40-miles of tree-bordered pathways, 10,000 transplanted trees, numberless shrubs, a million tulips, a quarter of a million pansies, and half a million hedge plants, folks it's staggering.

Even a Child's World.

The children have their own "world" with five supervised playgrounds where youngsters may be parked for a fee.

The amusement zone will have no Sally Rands, they say, but there'll be English, Cuban, South Sea and Old New York sections, a penguin village—and night clubs galore. And there'll be plenty of thrill producers like a real, gen-u-wine parachute jump (but fear not Agatha—a little wire will guide you down.) You music lovers can get your thrills at super-colossal musical extravaganzas on the waters of Fountain Lake.

Pride of the many industrial displays will be the "focal exhibits," co-operative efforts with a Max Reinhardt production touch. Industries participating will include railroads, distillers, pottery manufacturers, gas companies, glass manufacturers and oil companies.

And remember, folks, that this is not here today and gone in the World of Tomorrow Affair, for when the white trylon and perisphere no longer dominate the scene, it'll be a beautiful, landscaped parkland for New York's teeming millions.

who have announced their intention of destroying democracy. He asserted that America could not adopt an isolationist policy without doing great damage to its foreign trade and therefore its employment. He said if America was interested in maintaining democratic governments, it must be interested in other democracies, and if their frontiers are menaced, it should be a concern of ours.

Tucker questioned the existence of a real foreign policy in this country, and opposed any agreements of any kind that might lead to a war and force this country into it.

Van Zandt sharply attacked the secrecy that marked the president's conference with members of the senate military affairs committee, at which he outlined the plane sale policy and criticized the president equally sharply for what he called "losing his temper" at the press conference at which he denied he had said America's frontier was on the Rhine, and termed whoever had quoted him to that effect as a "boob."

Lamberton spoke briefly, and said he doubted if the entire question was as important as it has been made to seem.

TAX BILLS TO GO OUT THIS WEEK

Auditor Finishes His Work on Books, Kolb Begins Mailing 15,000 Statements.

Work on the county real estate tax books for the first half of the year was to be completed today by County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, giving Treasurer John E. Kolb a week to prepare for the tax collection due to open next Monday.

Kolb said he will begin immediately to mail statements for taxes to the 15,000 property owners whose addresses are on file at the courthouse. Statements will not be mailed to other property owners unless they report their addresses to Kolb, the treasurer said.

Collection of the county's tax bill which will amount to about $1,500,000 this year, will begin nearly two months behind schedule due to a revision of the tax books following a real estate reappraisal in the county last year.

Mailing of bills for the first time this year under a new state law will make it possible for a property holder to pay his taxes by mail without making a trip to the courthouse.

The first-half collection period will extend to April 1, and after that date a penalty will be added.

'Yes, My Darling Daughter' Ban In N. Y. Stirs Fight

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Warner Brothers has appealed to the state board of regents against the New York state board of censors' ban of the film version of "Yes, My Darling Daughter," a story of a girl who discovers her mother's peccadillos in the past and decides to emulate her.

Irwin S. Esmond, director of the motion picture division of the board of education, denied an application for an exhibition license on the ground that the picture did not conform with article 1082 of the education law. This section prohibits pictures classified as "obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman, sacrilegious or which is of such a character that its exhibition would tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime."

The play ran for 405 performances on Broadway and was rated one of the 10 best of 1936-37.

"We had not considered anything immoral in the picture as made," said Mitchell Rawson, eastern publicity manager for Warner Brothers. "Certain phases of the state production were changed in the film in order to avoid possible censorship. We still hope the picture will be passed in toto by the regents' board."

The general conclusion seems to be that Americans would be pretty dumb if, in international relations, we didn't cooperate with friends of democracy.

Sifting True From False.

DISPELLING of at least a few of the popular myths touching on the life of Abraham Lincoln has been a part of the research work of Dr. L. A. Warren, director of the museum at Ft. Wayne, Ind., developed by the Lincoln National Life Insurance company.

An idea that Lincoln was born in poverty on a squatter's domain in Kentucky is declared false. Lincoln was born in a Kentucky log cabin typical of those belonging to frontier people of that day. His father paid "$200 cash in hand" for the land on which it stood.

Lincoln's parents were not "poor white trash." Intellectually and economically they were superior to the average Kentucky pioneer.

Lincoln did not spring from such humble ancestry as many have thought. He came from a sturdy colonial family from which also came governors of Massachusetts and Maine, and an attorney general of the United States.

There are also some who believe Lincoln lost his famous debates with Douglas. This is declared false—that he won these debates "by majority vote of the people, but lost the senatorship through the voice of the electoral college."

Of the quite generally accepted story that "Lincoln's heart was buried with Ann Rutledge and he never loved his wife," Dr. Warren says: "The story of the Ann Rutledge romance gained no prominence until 1865 and at no time was her name mentioned in Lincoln's writings. For twenty years Lincoln lived with his wife, Mary Todd Lincoln, who bore him four sons."

While it has been difficult to separate the genuine from the apocryphal in gaining a fair estimate of Lincoln, it is interesting to know that the matter is regarded as of sufficient importance to continue search for facts through the more than seventy years that have elapsed since Lincoln's death, and it is particularly gratifying to recall that Mansfield's own Paul M. Angle has long been engaged in effective work along this line at Springfield, Ill.

Until Parted By Death.

MICHIGAN legislators have defeated a bill intended to make incurable insanity a ground for divorce in that state.

While the pathos of such a condition will be generally recognized, the idea of gaining freedom by divorce under those circumstances seems entirely out of accord with inescapable responsibilities of matrimony.

Disregarding the occasional exceptions of the Hollywood type, who make easy and frequent divorces a substitute for promiscuity, there is widespread inclination to regard marriage vows seriously, and to accept "for better or for worse . . . in sickness and in health . . . until death do us part," as being an obligation that cannot be lightly put aside.

While some marriages are contracted by immature or irresponsible persons who have little or no idea of what it's all about, and who shortly resort to divorce as an escape from an intolerable situation, the average person of sound mind is inclined to regard matrimony as a step toward parenthood, family life, an established home, and a continuance of the married state until the death of one or the other of the contracting parties.

Good health plays such a large part in marital relations that it should be carefully taken into account before marriage but poor health or misfortune cannot be honorably regarded as justification for attempting to escape responsibilities that have been taken on.

As was said by an opponent of the Michigan bill: "I concede that great sacrifice is required of a husband or wife when the other is incurably insane, but all civilized society is based on sacrifice."

The ease with which divorces have been made procurable in some states should not be regarded as according public sanction to such subterfuge in avoiding the restrictions of monogamy.

Brain Radiates Waves.

EXPERIMENTS by a psychology professor in the University of Southern California suggest that the brain radiates definite electric waves. It has potential activity within itself, he says, and does not depend on external stimuli to make it function.

Every person has individual brain waves, which can be caught and registered by an "electroencelograph," alias electric-brain-writer. When the subject's conscious mind is blank, the pulsations are even and regular, and they are so individual that a record of them can serve for identification, like fingerprints. If the subject starts thinking, the recording wave-lines change markedly, becoming shorter and irregular according to the nature of the thought.

The next step might be experiments testing whether one brain is able to telegraph or broadcast to others without perceptible means, such as the process of "telepathy."

Partly Blind, Partly Drunk.

MANSFIELD has its share of "driving while intoxicated" cases, but has thus far escaped the complications involved in an incident just reported from Cleveland, in which a motorist was arrested after his car had struck and seriously injured a pedestrian.

The offender explained to police that he wore glasses because he is blind in one eye and that his sight is poor in the other eye—which, coupled with his admission that he had three drinks of whisky earlier in the evening, placed pedestrians in a rather awkward position.

Eventually Ohio will probably make it more difficult for habitual drinkers to secure or retain drivers' licenses. Thus far nothing much has been done about it.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Every piece of farm legislation that has been enacted in congress for a half dozen years has had first to hurdle substitute legislation of some sort proposed by the famous team of Frazier and Lemke, and it is so again this year.

There isn't a team in congress that functions with such a completely unanimous spirit as these two North Dakotans, Senator Frazier and Representative Lemke. Their names are paired so often on pending legislation that Lemke gets mail addressed to "Representative Frazier Lemke."

Their principal legislative aim is to relieve farm troubles, for both insist that most of the recent ills of the country can be traced directly to failure to solve the farm problem.

Together they framed the 1934 Farm Mortgage moratorium act, which was held unconstitutional by the supreme court the following year. Revised and enacted again, the act is on the way back for a new test in the supreme court.

Back of Important Bills.

THIS session both have introduced the "cost-of-production" farm bill which originated in the wheat and corn belt. A dozen other members also have introduced the bill. Administration leaders say it hasn't a ghost of a chance to pass, but Frazier and Lemke say it will. Frazier is holding hearings on it.

Under the bill's provisions, the secretary of agriculture would determine a fair price to the farmer for about 50 crops, taking into consideration the labor and management of the farmer and his family, his investment, and other factors. Then dealers, all of whom would be strictly licensed, would be prohibited from paying less than this "cost-of-production" price.

These two men have played along together since college days when they were football buddies. Frazier is the executive type. For three years he was captain of the football team, a bulky center. Lemke, now a facile-minded attorney, was a fly-weight guard. He became captain when Frazier was graduated. Their favorite play was for Lemke to back out of the line, take the ball, duck around Frazier's shielding posterior, and hit the line on the other side of center.

In 1916 Frazier was elected governor, and re-elected twice. "He was the best governor North Dakota ever had," says Lemke. Lemke became attorney general in 1919 and together they framed a nest of legislation that at once delighted the progressive farmers of the state and infuriated the bankers and business men.

"If you had shot me on the streets of Fargo in 1919," says Lemke, "you wouldn't even have been prosecuted."

Included in their program was creation of the bank of North Dakota, mandatory bonding of state officials, and a state insurance system for public buildings.

Always Active.

FRAZIER came to the senate in the twenties and Lemke reached the house in the early 30's. Quickly they teamed up again. They introduced a bill providing for a bank of the United States to supplant the Federal reserve and take from the private banking system the power to issue money. They have introduced it every session since. The measure would permit the government to pay its bills by issuing its own money instead of borrowing.

The two are sponsoring also a bill to refinance farm mortgages at 1½ per cent interest.

Critics call many of their ideas "crack-pot" but it doesn't feaze them. They insist they are right—and sound.

"Henry A. Wallace was 100 per cent for this cost-of-production plan," says Lemke, "until he was surrounded by all the mahogany in his present office."

As a Union party candidate for president in 1936 Lemke didn't reap a hat full of votes. But North Dakota re-elected him that year to the house and gave him a 99,000 vote majority again last fall.

THE "BIG DIVIDE!"

G. O. P. Supports Armament Plan

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The House of Representatives' Republican committee on national defense adopted a report the other day indorsing, in the main, President Roosevelt's emergency armamant program.

No, that was not a typographical error.

It was a Republican committee all right, with Congressman James W. Wadsworth as its chairman. These Republicans, in honest sympathy with the administration's defensive plans, and realizing that it is an administration which has lost all control over its own party on Capitol Hill, felt that "we Republicans at least" ought to give our o.k. to a "really worthy" White House policy—though the policy of a Democratic White House tenant.

Because, if left to the mercies of his own party's lawmakers, it was beginning to look to the Republican contingent as if a Democratic president might be unable to win the support that Republicanism deems him entitled to.

That is to say, a Democratic president gets a Republican pat on the back for agreeing with Republicans so much better than he agrees with Democrats.

Only Moderately Open-Minded.

True, G. O. P. legislators were not sufficiently open-minded to vote with the president on the Floyd H. Roberts issue. Every single Republican senator who cast his ballot on that confirmation, cast it anti-presidentially.

That, however, was a different thing.

On the "senatorial courtesy" proposition a Republican solon and a Democratic buddy are brethren under the skin.

So the Democrats having divided 8-to-1 against the White House on that particular executive appointment, the Republicans joined them as a matter of inter or intra-senatorial politeness, quite non-partisanly.

I think, indeed, that there was a case in which the Republicans were rejoiced to join the recalcitrant Democrats, but it was courtesy; not principle.

It was not courtesy to the president, though. Anything but.

"F. D.'s" contention is that "senatorial courtesy" is not a bit provided for in the constitution, or legally otherwise. It simply is a tradition — old, nevertheless; it dates back to George Washington. But it is not binding; the Democratic senators simply wanted to be disagreeable, on the strength of a technicality.

That's so.

But the senators "got away with it."

As to the WPA?

Well, the president asked for $875,000,000 to run the WPA through June.

Congress deemed this excessive. It cut the total down by $150,000,000. Still, congress said, if we've overdone it, let the administration ask for a bit more later on. It implied that it reckoned $875,000,000 ridiculous. Yet it admitted that it did not want to be niggardly. Say, it said, that it had economized too sharply—it would tack on some more.

The theory was:

Let the administration do its best with $725,000,000 for about 60 days.

Then, if that proved inadequate, ask for more. Congress' idea was to ask, at least, for an attempt at economy A 60-day trial, for instance.

President Roosevelt gave it a 3-day trial. Then, in a message to congress, he asked for his additional $150,000,000.

It makes congress sore — it makes a predominantly Democratic congress sore.

Two Parties?

There are two parties in Washington.

But if ever there wasn't peace on the Potomac this is it.

Congress is on one side; the White House is on the other side.

The Democratic and Republican parties are mixed.

You can't tell which is which.

Health Advice

Ills of Lincoln's Day Reviewed.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ON THE eve of Lincoln's birthday it is natural to try to project oneself back into the days of his life and the men and women of his time. For us, in this column, we must confine ourselves to his medical life, but we have enough of interest to give you a picture of certain aspects of his time.

There was no doctor at Lincoln's birth, the only attendant being a Mrs. Enlow. Warm water, warm coverings and a hot fire in the cabin were the only precautions used to safe guard this precious life in its early hours.

When Lincoln was nine years old, his mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, died—probably from using milk from cows which fed on white snakeroot. Today her life could have been saved by the proper administration of carbohydrates, but in those days nothing of the nature of the disease was known.

A Healthy Life.

During most of his life Lincoln was physically healthy in spite of his lanky and somewhat unfavorable build. In 1833 he suffered a condition of mental depression. As is well known, he did not appear on the day first set for his marriage, which in the light of future events was not quite as queer as it appeared at the moment.

His attacks of melancholia, which persisted on and off for some time, have been ascribed to chronic constipation from which he suffered all his life, and which would be natural in a man of his physique. Costiveness probably also explains his fondness for apples.

Like all other human beings, of course, Lincoln had many minor ailments in the course of his life, and it is with a fellow feeling that we notice some of his drug store bills: in 1858 he bought ten cents' worth of adhesive plaster; in 1859 he bought 25 cents' worth of castor oil, also 35 cents' worth of Brown's mixture and cough candy; in 1859 he bought a bottle of Dead Shot which was used as a sure cure for bedbugs.

Curing His Exhaustion.

After one of the Douglas debates he fell into an acute state of exhaustion and was treated at the Quincy House, Quincy, Ill. At that time the proprietor of the Quincy House was George P. Floyd and Mrs. Floyd was asked to attend the sick orator. She took one look at him and said that he needed a "rum sweat," at which Lincoln said he never drank a drop in his life. But Mrs. Floyd assured him that the rum was for external use only. He was stripped and seated on a cane-bottomed chair and covered with blankets. Then a pan of New England rum was lighted and placed under the chair. This started a profuse perspiration, and broke up his malady.

Years later Mr. Floyd visited at the White House. Lincoln recognized him and said, "I believe your wife saved my life when I was in Quincy in 1858. Yes, I have taken that rum sweat that she prescribed for me many times and I have prescribed it for some of my friends. It has always been a dead shot."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, Feb. 13, 1919.

Five hundred attended annual Lincoln banquet at Elks' home. Clinton D. Cole of Findlay was the speaker.

Miss Rosylind Mowry underwent appendicitis operation at General hospital.

Dinner party for employes of the J. J. Dowling store was given at Southern hotel.

Railroads operating through Mansfield reported slump in passenger and freight business.

M. F. Weil, Aaron Matthes, H. A. Albrecht and Carl Hartman were attending state convention of Men's Apparel club in Dayton.

M. W. Gatch, former Mansfield resident, was heading hospital campaign in Baltimore.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Feb. 13, 1934.

One thousand persons, many of them Mansfielders, saw the new streamlined aluminum train of the Union Pacific go through Willard on its way to Washington.

Karl F. Culler, 20, was notified by Charles West that he had passed his mental examination on his appointment to West Point.

Ice and snow covered the streets, as temperature remained below zero.

Miss Josephine Bushnell, 186 West Second street, was ill at her home.

More than 3,000 attended Westinghouse employes dance at Coliseum.

Timely Editorial

Beware the Innocent Bystander.

Something new in the law of the road has just come from a British court. If your car collides with another's, your financial responsibility, or his own, is not the whole of the matter. A British woman saw a car and a truck come together. Though herself uninjured, a passenger in neither vehicle, and indeed a mere onlooker, she brought suit for damages, claiming mental shock. The court awarded a verdict of some $11,000, to be paid equally by the owners of the two vehicles.

The precedent seems to put on notice various categories of people and things grown-ups who leap from corners and say "Boo!" to small children; Halloween masquers; mystery plays like "The Cat and the Canary"; artillery that causes shell shock; radio broadcasts like the Wellsian invasion of Martians; a president demanding quarantine of the aggressor nations; the usual dictator's speech for "peace."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Stay On the Line!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE'S one of those people—exasperating creature! —who go to sleep on a telephone line. You now 'em.

One minute you're chatting as briskly as possible, feeling as near and sure as though you were together in one room. The next moment that other Voice is gone. You find yourself talking into silence. You repeat your words. No answer. You wonder—has Central cut you off? Again you speak, presently you are shouting.

Then the Voice comes wandering back exactly as though nothing had happened. What's the matter? Where has she been?

"Why, I've been here — right here all the time, listening."

But she hasn't been listening. Her body has been sitting by the 'phone, her ear has been laid against the receiver. But she, herself, has been dawdling and dreaming a million miles away.

Those Human Fade-Outs—you find them everywhere. Working beside you in the office, snoring beside you on the next pillow. And everywhere you find them, they're beefing.

Beefing because they never get the breaks—

Because no one takes them seriously—

And life does!

But why?

Life passes them by because they go to sleep on the line.

Human history is a telephone line, with a new message coming through every second.

Never have those messages come so fast. Never has the story altered so swiftly from year to year, from day to day.

Our world changes more in six months than it did in sixty years of our grandfather's time. New conditions; new problems; new standards; new needs.

AND ONLY THE MEN AND THE WOMEN WHO HAVE KEPT CURRENT CAN TACKLE THOSE PROBLEMS; MEET THOSE NEEDS.

That doesn't mean that we must have university education, or political careers; mingle with great crowds; perform sensational facts.

IT SIMPLY MEANS THAT WE MUST STAY ON THE LINE.

Go on with our jobs, however small, but keep our eyes and ears and heart open—wide open, no matter how much it hurts.

And it does hurt to keep current. It raises Cain with our laziness and cowardice. We can't indulge in the dope of dreams. We can't dawdle along old, sensational trails, or waste our time in self-pity, or self-praise. We've got to keep listening, and adjusting ourselves as we listen. Junking our old prejudices. Blasting open our ignorance. Letting life put her messages across.

No use dropping the receiver and thinking you can pick it up again. Time was when Life waited for man to straggle along.

Now there are too many men and they've started too many things. There's no time to waste for stragglers. No time to listen to whiners.

IF YOU WON'T STAY ON THE LINE — THAT'S YOUR BAD LUCK!

For Life won't use, can't use, those who won't stay on the line.

It doesn't matter who you are —rich or poor—weak or powerful —unless you are willing to stay on the line.

Unless you're willing to learn what it's all about—

Unless you are ready to keep moving with the march of events—

YOU'RE DONE FOR!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Almost every day letters are received from people asking about the New York fair and what they should see when they get here.

Now let's be honest with one another. Let's start all over again and get this thing straightened out. I don't know. I done tole you and tole you that I don't like fairs. That goes for the New York "world's" fair and also the San Francisco fair. I think both of them are acting like a couple of shrill spinsters anyway.

A few days ago a lady press-agent came in and was telling me about the marvelous things the New York "world's" fair is going to have. For some reason or other I asked her something about the San Francisco fair. She almost fainted. "You can't write anything parallelling the two fairs," she said. "Mr. Whalen wouldn't stand for it."

WELL, now, isn't that just too bad. Will you kindly tell me what Grover Whalen has to do with what is written about both fairs? Meanwhile, the San Francisco fair has set up offices in New York and if you want to see anybody get bored, just wander by those offices and ask them about the New York fair.

The New York fair isn't really a "world's" fair, no matter what Mr. Whalen's press agents tell you. How can it be a world's fair when half the country is interested in another fair and wants no part of the New York fair? And the West Coast wants no part of what is going on here.

The San Francisco fair is going to be on an island out in San Francisco bay, and for this reason I should say that it will be the best bet of the two, because, when you're on an island, you can always sit down on the bank and fish.

The New York fair is going to be on a highly perfumed ex-dump heap somewhere on the yonder side of East river. Just precisely where I wouldn't know, because I haven't been out there, but I imagine if you drove across Queensborough bridge and then asked the first cop for directions you eventually would get there.

Now please don't let anything I have said deter or depress you. After all, what is one man's opinion.

I THINK, commercially, fairs are all right. They get people to traveling, and people who travel spend money on transportation, hotels and amusements. They buy clothes, automobiles and fuel. That gets money to circulating. That's a fair's reason for existing.

And yet, when you analyze it, you can't see anything at a fair that you can't see every day anyway. Mr. Ford is going to have a costly exhibit at both these fairs. But there isn't an hour of the day in San Francisco or N. Y. when you can't see all of the products Mr. Ford manufacturers, if you want to see them.

That goes for typewriters and tractors, and everything else that the fairs will have. The big difference is that, at fairs, you have the fun of wandering in a labyrinth of confused buildings and streets until your feet blister. But, as I say, don't let me stop you. They'll be your blisters.

Send a Valentine

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Send a valentine, it will
Bring back youth to you,
Just a gesture but there is
In an "I love you."

Said to some one that you care
Very much about
Comforting and dreams that life
Should not be without.

You love some one, you are mate,
You are son, you are
Lover, send a valentine,
Whether near or far.

Let your heart be told in words
That a poet dreamed,
Make your loved one happier,
This will be esteemed—

This will be held in a heart,
Treasured year on year;
Simple act, but oh, to her,
One forever dear.

A Farmer's Diary

The Country Wake.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WENT along with a distant cousin of mine to his neighbor's wake. The dead man, a young fellow of thirty, had been the sole support of his aged parents, on their little farm.

"He got wet during this last rainy spell and took pneumonia," my cousin told me. "Wasn't ever none too strong anyway. Seems like the old folks loved him all the more because he was sickly. I don't know how they'll get along now."

We set out after supper, in my relative's old car, and crossed the rugged valley almost at right angles. When we reached the hilltop, in the gathering dusk, he pointed to a light, far up the other slope.

"That's the place."

Several other cars were parked outside. A relative opened the door for us. A group of young people had come in, and there were four other older men and women. About 10 o'clock the company left, and my cousin and I remained alone. It was his task to bathe the face of the dead man with a wet cloth every half hour. He opened the door to the dark, cold spare room where the body lay, and asked me to bring the light. The covered form of the only son lay on a cot in the corner, with only the calm waxen face visible.

In an adjoining room, we could hear the mother sobbing softly. My cousin's eyes, too, were moist. "A mother's tears are very precious," he said. "I believe they had moistened his face before we came. Ours is a poor substitute."

Thus we passed the night, almost in silence—each of us conscious of the solemnity of the hours, and the smallness of our poor efforts to make the sorrow of the parents lighter.

Their son, alone, was tranquil and at rest.

Brazil Acts to Equip 'Air Infantry' With U. S. Planes

AGENTS SEEK TO PURCHASE MACHINE GUNS

Washington Hears Foreign Minister Here to Obtain Military Supplies.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Reliable sources said today that Brazil is inquiring in this country for the purchase of light planes and machine guns for establishment of an "air infantry" corps to augment its national defense forces.

A license was obtained in December for purchase of $82,000 worth of machine guns, the state department revealed last week. Military authorities said that sum would purchase 165 to 170 of the light .30 calibre guns.

Other inquiries have been in progress for several weeks, it was said, although official confirmation was not forthcoming, for the purchase of a quantity of light, maneuverable planes, similar to the U. S. army's training planes.

Require Cash Sales.

Administration officials said sale of either the planes or the machine-guns would involve no new policy here, so long as sales were on a cash basis and by private armament or plane manufacturers.

It was believed that plane purchases may be on the list of subjects being discussed with officials here by Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha, now in Washington as the guest of the government. It was ascertained that they must be made on a cash or purely commercial basis.

The type of plane in which Brazil is interested sells for about $8,000 to $10,000.

Aranha was understood in his negotiations with this government to be concentrating on means of improving mutual trade relations and obtaining assistance in completing Brazil's five-year public works program. If credits for such purposes could be arranged through the export-import bank or other agencies, it was pointed out, Brazil might be able to release mre of her own funds for cash purchases of planes and other military equipment.

Plans for an "air infantry" corps were understood to be the result of efforts to cope with any threat of disorders in the interior of Brazil. There are vast areas which are untapped by modern highways or railroads where small garrisons are isolated from other units of the army.

Hits Indifference To Democracy In Addressing Forum

Ignorance of and indifference to democracy on the part of American citizens were scored by Atty. Howard Gongwer at a meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum last night at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Speaking on the subject, "What Can Youth Do Towards Preserving American Democracy?" Atty. Gongwer said: "What youth can do is identical with what adults can do. They can be vigilant in distinguishing between information and propaganda. Be interested in our government, its traditions and its functioning both in the nation and in the community."

Gongwer recommended that the government curb the activities of all undesirable aliens who proposed the violent overthrow of the American government and said that dangers threatening democracy were the idea that the country owes everyone a living and the threat against personal initiative and freedom of speech.

Mary Maxwell and Henry Sanford were devotional leaders during the meeting. A program on "Leisure in Mansfield As It Relates to Young People" will be held at next week's meeting at the First Congregational church.

FUNERAL TODAY

CRESTLINE—Funeral services were held today at the I. G. Foster funeral home for Ernest James Hoke, 17-month-old son of Robert and Mattie Broadnex Hoke of 225 Livingston avenue. Rev. H. B. Brightman, pastor of the A. M. E. church, officiated, and burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery.

The child died at Emergency hospital Saturday at 11:30 a. m. where he had been admitted for an operation. Surviving with the parents is a brother, Paul Edward.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

PLAYERS SHIFT DATE OF COMEDY

'Dulcy' to be presented April 4 at High School.

The third and final play of the Mansfield Community Players will be presented two weeks later than the scheduled date, Mrs. E. K. Bacon, director, announced today.

"Dulcy," the George Kaufmann-Moss Hart comedy was to have been presented March 21, with a dress rehearsal on March 20, but this date was relinquished to the committee sponsoring the University-Rotary clubs lecture series, which ends on March 20. The play will be staged at Senior High auditorium on April 4.

Tryouts for the last play of the season were conducted Friday night and from the talent unearthed there and from an earlier public try-out, the cast of "Dulcy" will be selected, Mrs. Bacon said.

LANDS IN COURT ON 2 CHARGES

Mansfielder's Arrest Leads to Discovery of Illegal Liquor in Car.

William Kilgore, colored, 251 North Adams street, arrested Saturday for careless and reckless driving was fined $10 and costs in municipal court this morning.

But that wasn't the worst of it.

His arrest on the driving charge brought on a second and more serious one when State Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale and W. H. Harrison found a gallon of illegal whiskey in the car.

Internal revenue agents filed charges against Kilgore of possessing illegal liquor, when called here from Cleveland.

Kilgore pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch this morning and was fined $200 and costs. Tax agents confiscated the car which police said belonged to Mamie Smith, colored, North Adams street.

Kilgore was ordered committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Vernon F. Harp, R. D. 4, Mansfield was fined $20 and costs and his operators license suspended for 30 days when he pleaded guilty to charges of careless and reckless driving.

Wallace Hoyer, Wooster, was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to charges of speeding at 80-mile-an-hour on the new Windsor cut-off Saturday night.

Albert J. Kottler, Meadville, Pa., charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

All three drivers were arrested by state highway patrolmen on U. S. route 42, north of Mansfield.

CHURCHES VIE

Columbus Leads Mansfield in Attendance Contest.

First results of an attendance contest now being held between the South Main Street Evangelical church, Mansfield, and the Miller Avenue Evangelical church, Columbus, were announced Sunday.

Opening Feb. 5, the contest will continue until Easter Sunday, April 9, a period of 10 weeks. Attendance at the two churches for the first week of the contest was, Miller Avenue church, 707, and the South Main Street church 659.

The contest includes attendance at both Sunday school and church services, and results will be based on total number of points. The superintendent of the losing church will present a silver trophy to the winning church, Sunday, April 23.

Rev. C. L. Kern is pastor and W. G. Herrold is Sunday school superintendent of the Mansfield church, and Rev. J. Paul Jones is pastor, and Wilbur Gettig is Sunday school superintendent of the Columbus church.

ATTEND BIG GAME DINNER

Four Mansfield big game hunters attended the annual dinner of the Big Game Hunters association, which was held at the Phoenix club in Ashland Friday night. They were Guy Stewart, I. S. Kohheiser, Harvery Fleck and V. G. Richey.

'HOME-MAKING' EDITORS DUE TOMORROW FOR ANNUAL CLINIC

Nationally known home-making writers, editors, and electrical merchandising men will meet in Mansfield Tuesday and Wednesday for the fifth annual kitchen clinic of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

A number will arrive tonight and the remainder are expected in time for an 8:30 breakfast at the Mansfield-Leland hotel tomorrow morning.

I. W. Clark, manager of the home planning department of Westinghouse and an outstanding authority on the subject, will be in charge of the clinic and will be host at the various social functions. Besides the breakfast there will be a dinner-dance at the Leland ballroom Tuesday night, with Bob Richards' Westinghouse orchestra and a tea Wednesday afternoon at the Westinghouse Institute rooms.

Heading the list of magazine writers who have large followings in Mansfield and vicinity are Katherine Fisher, head of Good Housekeeping Institute of New York City; Ada Bessie Swan and Elizabeth Beveridge of the Woman's Home Companion, New York City; Mary Davis Gillies and Kathleen Robertson of McCall's, New York City; Grace Pennock, Ladies' Home Journal, New York; and Myrna Johnston, of Better Homes and Gardens, Des Moines, Ia.

700 AT SCOUT CHURCH SERVICE

Rev. Swoyer Gives Sermon on 'Shadows of God' Sunday to Boys, Girls, Parents.

"Shadows of God" was the subject of the sermon given by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, at the annual Boy Scout service last night at the church, and attended by more than 700 Boy and Girl Scouts, their parents and friends.

The service was the climax of a week's observance in Mansfield of National Scout week, marking the 29th anniversary of the founding of the movement.

"The children of God are the same throughout the world. All people should live at peace with one and another," Rev. Swoyer told the young people.

"Wars are stupid things and should be done away with among civilized people. Our hospitals every year cost us about a billion dollars, but the World war cost us about a billion dollars every four days," he said.

Speaking of the two scout movements, Rev. Swoyer said, "The Boy and Girl Scouts are two of the best things we have to help keep down crime."

Short talks were given by Mrs. G. V. Smith, assistant commissioner of the Girl Scouts, and Philip Smith, district commissioner of the Johnny Appleseed Area.

The Girl Scouts were guests of the Boy Scouts at the service. Members of both groups attended the service in a body.

WIND UP COUNTY ROAD MEETINGS

Commissioners, Sword Confer With Township Trustees.

County commissioners and Engineer Howard C. Sword were completing their conferences today with township trustees on road plans for the year throughout the country.

Interviewed this morning at the courthouse, trustees from Plymouth township said they were undecided about their 1939 repair and maintenance program and asked for more time to submit their plans.

Trustees from Cass, Bloomingrove, Butler, Weller and Franklin townships were to confer with the county officials later today.

TROUBLE TEAMS UP BUT DEATH OF FATHER MAY SHOW WAY OUT

Trouble teamed up on Fred Warren, 32, of 84 Park avenue east, today, but he saw in one misfortune a possible solution to the other.

A few minutes after he was sentenced to one-to-three years in the Ohio penitentiary for failure to support his family, he learned of the death of his father, A. L. Warren, in Orlando, Fla.

A ray of hope appeared, however, when Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston said he would suspend the penitentiary sentence if Warren furnishes a $750 bond to assure his payment of $4 a week for the support of his two minor children.

Warren said his father left a considerable estate and he might inherit enough to pay his bond and provide for his family. His mother died last November.

Warren, who was sentenced despite the tearful protest of his wife who had filed a non-support charge against him, wes returned to the county jail while he attempts to work out a solution to his problems.

After scoring Fred Snyder, 21, of Newville as a "victim of the jazz age," Judge Huston placed the youth on probation for five years and ordered him to support his two small children.

Snyder had pleaded guilty to an indictment for perjury, growing out of his admitted false statements in the witness stand at a recent hearing over his violation of a court order.

"You are one of these jazz-crazy youths who think you can't enjoy a week-end outside a dance hall," Judge Huston told Snyder. "This court is not fanatical on the subject, but thinks you can meet better people and find more wholesome and cheaper entertainment by going to Sunday school and making the right kind of contacts."

'FINED' 11 SODAS

Hunter 'Arrested' by Shelby Scouts for 'Smoking Rope.'

Floyd Dent, Mansfield Boy Scout executive, eluded the "dragnet" of the Mansfield Scouts when they took over the city government last Wednesday, but Mayor C. M. Hunter ran right into trouble Saturday at Shelby where the scouts were in charge.

Cited on a charge of "smoking a rope in the city of Shelby," Mayor Hunter pleaded guilty and was fined 11 ice cream sodas. Court was adjourned while the scouts went to a nearby confectionery to collect the fine from the visiting mayor.

Mayor Hunter, an inveterate cigar smoker, was "arrested" while he was in Shelby on official business. He was fined by "Mayor" Hal Lewis who was in charge of the city hall for the day.

The Scout officers made four other "arrests" during the day, citing Principal O. H. Schaaf of Shelby high school, James Herbert, Eugene Keller and Fred Garvin, Boy Scout officials, for parking "violations."

The scouts, who were running the city as a climax to National Scout week activities, were treated to ice cream by Police Chief Leroy Coffey when they finished the day's work.

BURIAL TODAY

SHELBY—Funeral services for Lawrence Porter, 71, who died Saturday afternoon at the home of his half-sister, Mrs. Ellen Boals, Jackson township, were held today at the Dick and Dye funeral home with Rev. Joseph Thomas of the Taylortown Church of God officiating. Burial was made in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

Born June 4, 1867, in Jackson township, Mr. Porter had made his home during the recent years with his half-sister. No other relatives survive.

3 DRAW FINES

ASHLAND—Three were fined $10 and costs each, with $5 of the fine suspended in each cost in hearings held in the court of J. H. Armstrong, justice of the peace.

Those fined included Norman R. Turcotte of Massachusetts, for reckless driving; A. S. Abram of Sullivan for failing to stop at an intersection, and Carl Shinabarker of near Polk for reckless driving.

Elect Officers — Harley Evans, Shelby, and Arthur White, Mansfield, have been elected president and secretary, respectively, of the Red Cross First Aid lay instructors club. The next meeting of the group will be held March 2.

Removed to Home—Mrs. Lillian Thomas, who underwent an operation 10 days ago at General hospital, was removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kennedy, 13 Vale avenue, Sunday.

Executive Meeting—The executive board of the Mansfield Community Fund will meet at 7 p. m. today at the Fund headquarters in the Bird building.

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE SHOWS GAIN ON SEAS

Maritime Commission Reports Decline in Fleet Checked, Forward Progress Begun.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The maritime commission reported to congress today that the United States was well on the way to becoming a first-rate maritime power and re-emphasized the importance of a merchant fleet as a naval auxiliary in time of war.

"Rehabilitation of the merchant marine is definitely under way," the commission's annual report said. "The long and dangerous decline of our merchant fleet has been checked, the process reversed, and progress forward has begun.

"Prospects for the return of the American flag to a place upon the seas commensurate with our country's position as a world power are the brightest in many years."

The report contained no recommendations for legislation but the commission indicated it would suggest some later.

Quota Easily Filled.

In the first full year of its operation, the commission reported it had more than fulfilled its self-imposed quota of 50 new ships a year for 10 years. At the end of the calendar year 1938, the report disclosed, the commisison had 52 new ships of 425,000 gross tons under construction in conjunction with private operators or for its own account. The majority of these probably will be launched this year and will be ready to take their place on trade routes by 1940.

Discussing its long-range program in relation to national defense, the commission said that new vessels will be available for conversion into transport and supply ships in times of national emergency.

Among the accomplishments during 1938 reported by the commission were:

1. Improvement of relations between ship operators and labor personnel.
2. Establishment of training schools for seamen.
3. General improvement in relations between private operators and the commission.
4. Start of work on experimental cargo and passenger vessels designed to provide the United States with the fastest, best equipped merchant ships afloat.
5. Letting of contracts for 51 ships costing $130,000,000, and development of plans for gradually scrapping 113 obsolete vessels.

WAVE OF THEFTS

Automobile, Bicycle and Parts Stolen Over Week-End.

Police today were investigating a series of week-end thefts in which the loot was a stolen automobile, a bicycle and various articles from four other machines.

James Ritchie, 35 Columbia avenue, told police that his automobile containing five vacuum sweepers, was taken Saturday afternoon from Walnut street near West Third.

Robert Ehalt, 67 Brinkerhoff avenue, reported the theft of his bicycle Saturday afternoon from in front of the Ohio theater.

H. L. Hamilton, 274 West Dixon place, said that a sample case and candy valued at $35 was taken from his car parked on College place early Sunday.

Two motorists, H. K. Eller, 89 Helen avenue, and K. W. Craven, Johnsville, reported the theft of spare tire and wheels from their machines Saturday night.

A $20 electric razor and a box of fishing tackle was taken from his car while in the garage at his home at 2 Gibson avenue, W. H. Weitzman, told police.

HEAR PIANIST AT MT. VERNON

Mansfield Group To Attend Templeton Concert Tomorrow.

A number of Mansfield music lovers will go to Mt. Vernon tomorrow night to hear Alec Templeton, blind Welsh pianist.

Templeton has an amazing background. He was born sightless on a farm near Cardiff, Wales, and at the age of two could imitate the church bell on the piano. At four he composed a lullaby with which his mother sang him to sleep; at five he directed a boys' choir and when he was 12 his parents took him to London and enrolled him in the Royal Academy.

Jck Hylton, dance band leader, brought him to America and he has since played with the leading symphonies here. He is 28.

For his Mt. Vernon concert he will play compositions of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, Debussey and a group of his own compositions.

INFANT DIES

CRESTLINE—Esther Jane, 4-month-old daughter of Elmer and Mabel Winter Bletz, died Sunday at 2 p. m. at the home, four miles north of town, of complications. The child was born Oct. 20, 1938.

Surviving with the parents are a sister, Dorothy Jean, and a brother, James Elmer, and the grandmother, Mrs. William Bletz.

Rev. W. L. Margard, pastor of Calvary Reformed church, will officiate at funeral services to be held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the family home. Burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery.

ROAD FLOODED

Unexpected Rise of Ohio River Leaves CCC Worker Dead.

PORTSMOUTH —(AP)— An unexpected, gradual rise in the Ohio river left a section of U. S. route 52 west of here under water today for the second time in 11 days and disclosed the death of a CCC camp worker.

The body of Hardy Frederick, 48, Akron, missing from Camp Pine Gap near Peebles since Friday, was found in backwaters of the Scioto river last night near its confluence with the Ohio here.

COUNCIL GROUPS TO CONFER ON SEWER SURVEY

Committees Meet Tomorrow With Mayor on Financing of Proposed Project.

The question of a comprehensive survey of the Mansfield sewer system which has been requested repeatedly by the state department of health will be discussed when council's sewer and finance committees confer tomorrow night with Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist.

Mayor Hunter said that the groups had been asked to meet in his office at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of discussing the engineering of the proposed survey which hinges on an opinion from City Solicitor Marion D. Ward concerning the $8,000 balance from the construction of the sewage treatment plant three years ago.

Seeks Release of Funds.

The mayor is seeking to release the "frozen assets" to finance the survey as the first step towards the complete rehabilitation of the sanitary sewer system.

Hunter will meet with Fred H. Waring chief engineer for the state department of health in Columbus tomorrow to discuss his request for dispensing with the services of James R. Collier of Elyria, the city sewage technician.

Collier was hired by city council to act in a supervisory capacity at the treatment plant when the state department approved the appointment of James R. Turner on that basis.

His contract with the city expires in March, and it is the annual fee of $1,500, that Hunter hopes to save.

Ward said legislation dealing with the sewage plant construction fund had been turned over to him by Mayor Hunter and that he expected to render his opinion on the availability of the funds for conducting the survey sometime tomorrow.

DEATH CLAIMS ARTIE GEIB, 49

SHELBY—Miss Artie May Geib, 49, former chief operator of the Shelby Telephone company, died Sunday at her home in Sharon township, west of Shelby, following a lingering illness.

Miss Geib was born Nov. 14, 1889, at Lebanon, Pa., and came to Shelby 35 years ago. She was employed by the Shelby Telephone company prior to her illness.

Surviving are two aunts, Mrs. Artie Smith, of Shelby, Mrs. Frank Nicolen of Dearborn, Mich., and an uncle, Charles Smith of St. Johns, Kansas.

Funeral services will be held at the Dick and Dye funeral home at 2:30 p. m., Tuesday, with Rev.D. B. Young, pastor, and Rev. M. P. Paetznick, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be made in Oakland cemetery.

GALION—Coach Carl Hopkins of Mt. Gilead will bring his high school cagers to Galion tonight for a game with the Galion high school Orangemen on the Junior high hardwood.

SPONSORS DANCE

Madison Junior Class To Hold Valentine Event Tomorrow.

The Junior class of Madison high school will sponsor a Valentine party and dance at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the school gymnasium. In addition to dancing, a program of games will be held. Music will be furnished by Gene Lantz and his orchestra. Miss Lenore Mills and W. G. McFadden, class advisers, are in charge of arrangements.

A program in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday was held in the school auditorium this afternoon. It includes a motion picture entitled, "Abraham Lincoln."

2 BOYS DROWNED

AKRON—(AP)—Nearby Springfield lake had claimed the lives of William Oldham, jr., 12, and Frank Pouncey, jr., 14, both of Akron, drowned when their homemade ice boat crashed through a weak spot in the ice.

GIRDLER SEES U. S. IN NEED IF WAR COMES

Tells Engineers Strife Would Curb Foreign Supply of Needed Steel Materials.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The time might come, T. M. Girdler, the steel man predicted today, when the United States would gladly give all the gold in Kentucky vaults for a pile of desperately needed manganese and chromium.

This "time," said the chairman of the Republic Steel corporation, would be war, and the prediction was made in a speech to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

He explained that this country is either wholly or in part dependent on foreign countries for seven of the 12 important nonferrous metals used in making steel. The seven are chromium, nickel, tin, manganese, cobalt, tungsten and vanadium.

Both Essentials.

Manganese enters widely into steel making and chromium is an essential of stainless steels. Girdler said the United States uses 40 per cent of the world's chromium but its production is "insignificant." It uses 20 per cent of the world's manganese but produces "very little."

"War brings no genuine prosperity to the steel industry," he declared. "Any temporary profits which may come from extreme activity of plants during a conflict such as the World war are of no lasting benefit to the industry."

Girdler declared the mining industry is being throttled in many cases by ruinous taxes. He quoted a study showing that the tax collector takes 27 cents out of every dollar paid for Lake Superior iron ore delivered at lower Great Lakes ports. The tax, he said, is twice the actual cost of producing the ore.

Germany, Japan and Italy are spending six times as much for national defense as the United States, said Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward.

The Berlin-Tokyo-Rome triangle, he declared, spent six and seven-tenths billions in 1938. Germany's share was 4.4 billions, Japan's 1.8 and Italy's .5. The seven major powers spent 16 billions, Russia leading with 5.4.

SHERIFF BACK

Goes to California, Gets 'His Man' and Returns in Week.

Sheriff E. P. Long went to California and got his man, and it only required a week for him to do it.

The sheriff returned to Mansfield Saturday night with Thomas Schwartz, 23, of Shelby who will be cited by Judge C. H. Huston in common pleas court for violation of his probation. The sheriff completed the trip by train in just seven days.

Schwartz, who had been on probation since 1935 when he admitted breaking into a filling station at Shelby, abandoned his wife and three small children about three weeks ago and fled to California. He was arrested by Los Angeles police as a suspicious person and admitted that he was wanted in Richland county.

Court attaches said he would be brought before Judge C. H. Huston probably within the next day or two.

ATTEND BUCYRUS EVENT

Piercing Pains In Back Relieved By Taking Vendol

Mansfield lady suffered daily with sore muscles and aches all through body. Vendol acted as diuretic to kidneys bringing marvelous relief.

MRS. HARRY P. FERGUSON

"I could feel relief within a short time after I started taking Vendol and the improvement continued day by day until now, I really feel better than in years," said Mrs. Harry P. Ferguson, a highly esteemed resident of 46 Daisy St., Mansfield, whose husband is a popular employe of the Bayleaf Mfg. Co., to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store where he hears his medicine praised highly every day by local people who say it's the best medicine they ever took.

"I suffered from constipation and sluggish kidney action, which seemed to fill my body with pains and there was hardly a day that I was free of backache, painful arms, hands and knees. When I bent over, seemed I couldn't straighten up except with great effort.

"These pains often kept me awake at night and I'd have to rub my joints and muscles.

"After Vendol gave such splendid relief from constipation and acted as a mild diuretic to my kidneys, I have enjoyed grand relief from all the other troubles. I stoop and bend without a pain now, get restful, unbroken sleep and haven't had a backache lately.

"I can't praise Vendol too much for the relief it gave me and my advice to others who suffer this way is to get Vendol without a day's delay."

Vendol owes its virtue to the splendid formula of Nature's Roots and Herbs combined with Alkalines and relieves many troubles when due to constipation or need of a mild diuretic to the kidneys.

The Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 6th Streets to fully explain about this great remedy. Don't put off seeing him. Give Vendol a chance to help you too. It is sold by most all leading druggists everywhere.

Informally Speaking...

Monday, Feb. 13.

Lucy, dear:

Today is a beautiful one for mid-winter and tomorrow will be too . . . even if the sun doesn't shine, because tomorrow is the day that St. Valentine helps Cupid with his work . . . and everyone is happy on receipt of a valentine from his or her secret heart-throb.

* * * * *

It was kind of a Valentine and birthday gift combined Bev Schwein received Saturday night . . . when Jim Clark called long-distance from San Francisco, Cal., to wish her happy returns of the day. Jim, you recall, went to the west coast with Bill McClurg, Dave Kohler, Bill Majoy and Felix Horne the first of this month. The young men are representatives of the Westinghouse there and are helping with preparations for the company's exhibit in the Golden Gate exposition. According to Jim, they like the weather fine . . . and they're keeping house in a modern six-room apartment.

* * * * *

IT SEEMS that our college students are all pretty busy at their respective schools these days . . . Cliff Scouten is serving on the Junior Prom committee at Ohio university—the dance will be held on March 3 with Paul Whiteman's as the probable orchestra. . . . Cliff's also vice president of his fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha. . . . The most important dance of the year at the University of Michigan is the annual J-hop—and Barbara Hartman went up to Ann Arbor from Simmons Junior college to go to the dance with Harrison Lowrey of U. of M.—dancing was to the music of Henry Busse and Count Basie. . . . Did you see the pictures on the front page of the society section of the Cleveland Plain Dealer yesterday? Well, in case you missed it, you'd better look it up—because there's a picture of Spencer Draffan and Josephine Hughes with a group of other young people on the page . . . the occasion was the Junior Prom of the University school in Cleveland, where Spennie (who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Draffan) is a student. Jo (daughter of Mrs. Florence E. Hughes) is a student at Senior Hi.

* * * * *

Just heard from West Palm Beach, Fla., that a Mansfielder who's vacationing down there had a piece of good luck—or, at least did some very smart bridge playing . . . Mrs. B. W. Estabrook was the winner of the contract bridge tourney which was a feature of the second annual South Florida tourist day there last week.

* * * * *

Mrs. John S. Jones has just returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where she visited her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Morrow. I'm sure you remember Mrs. Morrow, Lucy . . . she was formerly Mary Jones and she and her husband have two young sons, John and Marshall, now.

* * * * *

THIS WEEK is an exciting one for Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gorman—in fact the next six weeks will be exciting, for they're driving out to the west coast . . . and their son, Jim, is going along. The Gormans plan to go to San Francisco (where Mr. Gorman has an exhibit at the Golden Gate exposition) and then down to Texas with stop-offs at Boulder Dam and Grand Canyon.

Paul and Laura Williams have found a house in Dayton (Paul takes over the duties of secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there March 1) but now the trouble is they can't find time to move. The reason is that too many of their friends are giving parties for them—not that they object to the parties, but they're so numerous they don't leave time for anything else.

And now I have some good news for you—Gertrude (Wiles) McEntee will be visiting here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Otis Wiles, for the next month . . . her two young sons (Andy, 10, and Jed, 5) are here with her too. Of course you remember Gertrude—she was formerly the staff secretary at the Y. W. C. A. here and was married to Jansen A. McEntee in 1927. The couple has been residing in Park Ridge, Ill., (a suburb of Chicago) for a number of years, but now they're coming back to Ohio—and down to Columbus.

I guess that's about all the news until I hear from you again, Lucy . . . and in the meantime, I hope you'll have a most happy Valentine day.

Lovingly,

Marianne

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Arrange Valentine Party for Primary Classes at St. Luke's

ARRANGEMENTS for a Valentine party for children in the primary department of St. Luke's Lutheran church have just been completed according to an announcement made by Mrs. Herbert Linham, superintendent of the department. The affair will be held tomorrow at 7 p. m. in the church parlors with a program preceding the social hour.

There will be six Valentine decorated tables, one for each class, and one for the guests. Mrs. Richard Fensch is in charge of decorating the guest table and she will preside at it. Others in charge of decorations are Mrs. Carl Graham, Mrs. Carl Rein, Mrs. Harry Schuler, Mrs. Ralph Kahl, Mrs. H. E. Poffenbaugh.

Table hostesses include Mrs. Herbert S. Garnes, Miss Dorothy Altaffer, Miss Mary Ellen Bechtel, Mrs. Lester Dye, and Miss Betty Koogle. Members of the refreshment committee include Mrs. Harry Krumm, Miss Sarah Krumm, Mrs. Ernest Shafer, Mrs. Willard Kookle, and Mrs. Earl Schuler.

The program will include a style show and musical selections. Popular music will be played by Virginia June Linham, Grace Eleanor Ruby, Mrs. Kahl, and Mary Eileen Schuler. Mrs. Willis Park will be soloist.

Children participating are: Janet Elaine Rein, Kathryn Beatty, Marilyn Jean Schuler, Susan Belle Biddle, Kathleen Kohler, Lila Jean Cook, Shirley Amstutz, Dorothy Ann Estep, Darlene Simmons, Katherine Ann Shafer, Ann Wheatley, Katherine Ann Fensch, Mary Eileen Schuler, Mary Ellen Bechtel, Betty Koogle, Dorothy Altaffer, Betty Uhlich, Margery Woodard, Grace Eleanor Ruby, Virginia June Linham, and Virginia Jolliff.

Musical selections will be given by Bing Owens, Miss Ruby and Miss Linham, and a postoffice for Valentines will be conducted by Betty Koogle, Richard Poffenbaugh and Jack Wheatley.

Cleveland Artist to Appear On Program of Music Study Club

ONE of Cleveland's most outstanding contraltos will be the guest artist and lecturer Friday at the regular monthly meeting of the Mansfield Music Study club when a program on the opera is presented at 8:15 p. m. in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Miss Lila Robeson will speak on "Opera" assisted by Mrs. William Hazeltine, soprano, and LeMoine Derr, baritone.

Arrangements for the affair are in charge of Miss Teressa Pfeifer. Mrs. Paul Williams, Mrs. Paul Cropper and John Grabler. Miss Robeson is well-known in music circles in Ohio as well as in the east for her 12 seasons with the Metropolitan Opera company, her appearances at the Bach Festival at Baldwin-Wallace college at Berea, and numerous concerts and lectures in greater Cleveland in the past few years.

She has appeared with the New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Russian Symphony orchestras during her career and at present is a teacher of applied voice at Western Reserve university.

Wed Saturday Afternoon By Rev. Boyer

Kathryn Schomer Bride of Philip Stehle; Quiet Ceremony Read.

TO THE strains of "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" played by Mrs. Robert Hoover, organist, Miss Kathryn Marie Schomer, daughter of Mrs. Donald Renner, 14 Hedges street, became the bride of Philip Stehle, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stehle, sr., 192 Wayne street. The ceremony was performed at 3:30 p. m. Saturday at the First United Brethren church by Rev. James L. Boyer.

Miss Schomer wore a street length gown of surf colored Francine crepe trimmed with brown braid which accented the tight fitting bodice and wide flaring skirt. She wore a corsage of gardenias. Her attendant was Miss Phyllis Underwood who wore a maroon dress made with sunburst tucks in the bodice, and an unpressed pleated skirt attached to a wide sash. She wore a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father, Donald Renner, before the church altar which was decorated with palms and beauty baskets of cut flowers.

For her daughter's marriage Mrs Renner wore a gown in a block and stripe pattern in shades of navy blue and cyclemen. Her hat matched the dress, and her flowers were Talisman roses.

Mrs. Stehle wore a rust colored silk crepe with velvet sleeves, and black accessories. Her corsage was also of Talisman roses.

After a wedding supper served to 20 at a long table decorated with cut flowers and a three-tier wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. Stehle, jr., left for a short trip. The bride wore a bolero costume of natural Kasha with a contrasting paisley blouse and brown accessories.

Carl Stehle, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Joseph Stehle and Harold Williams were the ushers.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Mansfield Senior high school, and Mr. Stehle is employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber campany. The couple are staying temporarily with the bride's parents.

POSTPONEMENT.

The meeting of the Ladies' German Pioneer club which was set for tomorrow at the home of Mrs. John Klinger has been postponed until next month because of the death of a member.

PARENT GROUPS PLAN VARIETY OF PROGRAMS

Dr. Charles Anspach Will Be Guest Speaker at Country Day School; Historical Talks and Tableaux to Be Featured This Week.

IN CONJUNCTION with the celebration of Founders Day of the National Parent-Teacher congress a number of programs of major interest are being planned by the various Mansfield units this week. Tonight Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Ashland college, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of Country Day School P. T. A. at 8 p. m. The meeting will be open to the public.

Mrs. Edward Nixon is chairman for the program which will be presented at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow before Carpenter P. T. A. members. She will be assisted by Mrs. Arthur Beer and Mrs. Wayne Ward. A review of the historical significance of the P. T. A. movement will be given by Miss Frances Norton, and Mrs. David Ireland will present the school Mothersingers in a program of classical selections. Mrs. Charles Sparks will serve as accompanist.

The same evening a historical tableau will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Victor Alderson at the Newman school P. T. A. meeting. Several musical numbers will be given by the Jonathan Glee club, and Mrs. E. D. Gibson, violinist.

Following the presentation of a historical sketch by Mrs. James Rizer, members of Troup 8 of the Girl Scouts will present a demonstration of their work under the direction of Mrs. Frank Wentz at the meeting of the Woodland P. T. A. at the school at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. The social hour is in charge of mothers of third and fourth grade pupils.

Wednesday evening Western Avenue P. T. A. will entertain at a benefit card and Chinese checkers party at the school at 8 o'clock, and an amateur night program for members and students will be conducted by the Bushnell P. T. A. at the school. Mrs. B. E. Broach is in charge.

Guest Speaker to Give Review

Single admission tickets for the final book review in the series of three will be available at the doors of the First Congregational church Wednesday afternoon, it was announced today, when plans were announced for the review to be given by Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff, Cleveland, at the church.

Appearing under the auspices of the Women's Association of the church, Mrs. Benninghoff has reviewed two books here this winter, and will give her final report Wednesday at 2:15 p. m. in the church auditorium. Her subject is "Benjamin Franklin" by Carl Van-Doren.

Miss Helen Hurst, president of the association, will introduce the speaker. Mrs. Benninghoff will return to Mansfield for an evening review on April 25, Mrs. John W. Graham of the ways and means committee, announced.

When clothes are dried inside, they should be washed with special care. Careful housewives use Roman Cleanser for winter washings, because it disinfects clothes and makes them fresh and snow-white even when dried inside. It is particularly important to disinfect handkerchiefs, towels, napkins, children's clothes. Directions on Roman Cleanser label.
